Provisional Government Established In Spain Today

CONDITIONS REPORTED TO BE NORMAL

Decree Adopted Dissolving Permanent Section of Parliament By Leaders

LIBERTY FOR CREEDS

Plans For Changes in Relations of State and Church Will Be Made

MADRID, April 17.—(UP)—The provisional government of Niceto Alcalá Zamora put into effect today its first measures for establishment of republican government in Spain.

With comparatively normal conditions restored, the government adopted a decree dissolving the permanent section of parliament, which included 180 senators who held office for life under the monarchy.

By means of the senate, the throne had been able to retain control of parliament under virtually any conditions, because the king was certain of the loyalty of the life appointees. The chamber of deputies is elective.

Simultaneously the government indicated its plans for changes in the relations of the church and state, although government ministers emphasized that everything would be done "respectfully."

"Until the meeting of a constituent parliament, the government will make no radical changes in the relations of the church and state or disturb church property," the United Press was informed.

The minister of justice, however, told church officials that the government expected the church to adopt policies similar to those existing in other countries where republics exist.

"There will be liberty for all creeds, and the cemeteries will be under jurisdiction of civil authorities instead of ecclesiastics, because at present a person who dies without confessing cannot be buried in church cemeteries," Minister of Justice Fernando De Los Rios said. "The concordat with the Vatican will be respected. We are not going to adopt class policies."

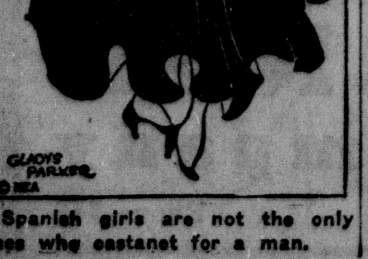

He said that ecclesiastical authorities with "conscientious scruples" could protest to the papal nuncio and resign. Spain supported the clergy and properties of the church under the monarchy, and the constitution provided that the government should support the church. The annual expenditure by the state for the church in 1929 was more than $13,000,000.

FLAPPER FANNY SAYS:

Mother of 7 Held On Liquor Count

FRESNO, April 17.—(UP)—City Justice Earle J. Church today had a problem worthy of a Solomon's consideration. He must decide what to do with Mrs. Miyu Yanasaki, destitute mother of seven children and confessed attempted bootlegger.

Mrs. Yanasaki's attorney, Tom Akawara, in pleading for the court's mercy said his client's children would suffer if she were taken from them.

Furthermore, he said, her attempt to become a bootlegger was a complete failure, as no one would drink the kind of liquor she had in stock. Her only sale, he said, was to an undercover agent.

SPANISH ROYAL FAMILY HOUSED IN HOTEL ROOM

Colony of Royal Exiles Is Increased—Refuses to See Reporters

PARIS, April 17.—(UP)—The Spanish royal family was established in exile here today in the city which hundreds of their Republican foes left in jubilation in the last 48 hours.

Joining other royal families in the hospitable capital of France, Alfonso XIII arrived at 11:10 p. m. after a railroad journey from Marseille. He joined Queen Victoria and five of their six children at the Hotel Meurice, where they barred themselves from all but a few close friends.

The exiled king was almost crushed by a crowd of 8000 spectators when he left his train at the station. The crowd, including many women and children, cheered deliriously when the former king appeared.

Alfonso, plainly showing the strain of the last few days, was smiling when he left the train, but the surging crowd appeared to alarm him. He was unable to move for 10 minutes.

He declined to see newspapermen and insisted merely that he was "happy to be in Paris."

He went immediately to the hotel, where the queen was established earlier in the day. After greetings they conferred at length with friends on their future plans and decided to remain here for several days, if not indefinitely. The king began consultations also with advisers in Spain planning to keep in close touch with the situation at home.

The Duke of Miranda, who has acted as Alfonso's spokesman, made it clear that the king is merely "on vacation" from the throne and is awaiting the results of the next election to tell him whether the people want the crown re-established. The monarchists of Spain have already begun plans to strengthen their party in the next ballot.

LONG BEACH SEEKS TO AVOID BATTLE OVER WATER RIGHTS

KING OF SIAM IS UNABLE TO LEAVE LINER

Confined to Royal Suite When Ship Docks at Vancouver Today

VANCOUVER, April 17.—(UP)—Incapacitated by illness King Prajadhipok of Siam, was unable to leave the royal suite on the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Japan when it docked here today.

Although in an improved condition physically, the royal visitor was still seriously ill and it was considered dangerous by physicians to remove him from the ship. Meanwhile his queen, beautiful Rambai Barni, prepared to receive Canadian dignitaries at 11 a. m.

The king's illness was revealed when the steamer docked as a bronchial ailment, induced by a severe cold contracted on the steamer. It was first reported as a recurrence of malaria from which Prajadhipok has suffered for years.

Two days before the vessel docked, the royal physicians feared the illness would necessitate postponement of the trip east indefinitely, but his majesty rested more easily as the Empress of Japan entered smooth inland waters today and he was greatly improved.

The arrival of the steamer bearing the royal entourage was marked by none of the pomp and panoply usually associated with Oriental royalty. All plans for entertainment were abandoned, and as the king and queen were traveling incognito, there was an absence of the royal salute that ordinarily greets a visiting monarch.

As at Victoria, the first Canadian port entered by the Empress of Japan, yesterday, Queen Rambai Barni will receive a delegation of officials of the Dominion and British Columbia in an informal reception. At her side will be Prince Svast, her father, and the king's uncle.

Prince Svast announced definitely today that the king and queen would not visit western United States on their return trip. Following the operation on the king's eye at Baltimore, the royal party will return westward by way of Niagara Falls, Banff and other Canadian resorts.

Plans today were for removing of the king to the special train that will bear him eastward at 5 o'clock this afternoon. At midnight the special train will depart on the trip across country and Sunday evening will cross the border into the United States at Portland, N. D. There American officials will replace the king's escort and the party will proceed to New York.

Separate School Measure Killed By Senate Committee

SACRAMENTO, April 17.—(UP)—Despite amendments designed to meet objections of the Mexican government, the senate education committee last night killed the bill calling for establishment of separate schools for Indian, Chinese and Japanese children.

The measure had been introduced by Assemblyman George R. Ellis, Santa Barbara, but because it was found to affect children of Mexican Indians, the Mexican authorities filed protest.

Vierling Kersey, state superintendent of public instruction, warned the committee that "serious international complications" would result if it were enacted.

When King Prajadhipok and his queen depart from the east on the return trip to Siam, Svast will leave the party and start for California.

President of Labor Federation Addresses Editors of Country

WASHINGTON, April 17.—(UP)—William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor today told members of the American Society of Newspaper Editors that the principle of freedom of the press is bound up with the effort of organized labor to obtain enactment of legislation to curb injunction powers of the courts.

"We have regarded the injunction orders of some equity courts," Green said, "commanding labor to refrain from printing and publishing facts concerning industrial disputes and industrial struggles, as a transgression upon the exercise of the freedom of the press."

"Labor views with grave concern the encroachment of equity courts upon the exercise and enjoyment of this cardinal, fundamental, vital principle. Even the slightest encroachment may prove to be a wedge which, if unopposed, will permit a further abuse of the restrictive powers of equity courts."

PRICE OF RAISINS IN SLIGHT ADVANCE

FRESNO, April 17.—(UP)—Wylie M. Giffen, California raisin pool president, today made public a new offer of 13,600 tons of raisins at an eighth of a cent a pound advance, at the same time announcing he expected the 1930 crop carryover to be under 30,000 tons.

The carryover the last six years has ranged from a low of 55,000 tons to a high of 124,000 tons.

The tonnage offering followed a board of directors meeting. "We believe," Giffen said, "that the advance in price is entirely justified by conditions."

American Seized By Bandits; Ask $25,000 Ransom

PEIPING, China, April 17.—(UP)—The capture of Godfrey Lindholm, of Ortonville, Minn., by bandits was reported today in messages to American authorities, demanding ransom for his release.

The bandits, who captured Lindholm on Thursday, asked $25,000 ransom on threat of death to the American. The message said the bandits would wait until Saturday for the money.

KIDNAPED MAN TURNED LOOSE BY ABDUCTORS

Wealthy Brewer Released Without Ransom Being Paid, Report

DECATUR, Ill., April 17.—(UP)—Fred J. Blumer, 52 year old president of a Monroe, Wis., brewery, was freed today by the gangsters who kidnaped him a week ago and had been holding him for $150,000 ransom.

Blumer was unhurt and immediately started back to his home. He was accompanied by a group of friends, believed to be fellow officials of the Blumer Products company, who had come here to meet him.

The mystery with which Blumer's family and Monroe authorities concealed their negotiations for his release during the last several days was maintained even after the brewer was released.

Blumer's release was announced at a Decatur hotel, where he and his friends stopped before leaving for the 200 mile journey back to Monroe along a secret route.

Blumer admitted his identity when he registered at the Orlando hotel. He told employees that he had been freed one block west of the hotel, in the Decatur business district.

The attendants were uncertain regarding the exact hour at which the brewer was freed. One report said he was released last night.

Blumer told the hotel clerk that his captors kept a blindfold over his eyes and handcuffed his hands, but otherwise did not mistreat him.

"They spent a lot of time driving me around in an automobile, but I never could find out where we were," he was quoted as saying.

Blumer said the kidnapers took all the money he had on his person, together with a diamond stickpin, but gave him $20 for hotel expenses when he was freed.

OKLAHOMA TAKES LIFE OF INDIAN

MCALISTER, Okla., April 17.—(UP)—E. S. "Choc" Hembree, Choctaw Indian, walked steadily to the electric chair here today, where the state claimed his life for criminally assaulting a young school teacher.

The strong spirit which led him to joke with cellmates in the death house at the state penitentiary never deserted him. He had a smile for each of the 13 men to whom he bade a cheerful farewell.

Hembree was convicted of attacking Miss Leota Bosley, 23, near Loco, Okla., on March 9, 1930, a teacher whose home was at Gainesville, Tex. He was 42.

Would Use It Only As Necessary

Meeting of Commission Is Held With Valley Basin League Men

LONG BEACH does not intend to use the strip of land purchased in Orange county for drilling wells and taking water from this county only as an extreme measure of necessity, it was stated by city officials and members of the Long Beach Municipal Water Commission when they met yesterday noon with members of the Santa Ana Valley Basin Water Rights Protective association and interested citizens of the county to discuss the problem.

Long Beach is asserted to have purchased a strip of land, 5000 feet long near Los Alamitos, in Orange county with the intention of drilling wells to augment the water supply for that city. Following the asserted purchase, the Santa Ana Valley Basin Water Rights Protective association filed a formal protest with Long Beach against taking the water and stated that they would fight any effort made by Long Beach to take water from the basin.

Following the filing of the formal protest Long Beach, through C. C. Lewis, city manager, declared that an amiable agreement with Orange county on the problem was highly desired and suggested that a conference be called between the two factions.

The meeting held yesterday was called by P. A. Stanton and was attended by C. C. Lewis, Long Beach city manager, City Attorney Nowland M. Reid, the city engineer, and 4 members of the municipal water commission. Orange county was represented by E. E. Campbell, chairman of the Water Rights Protective association, P. A. Stanton, William Schumacher, member of the Orange County board of supervisors, J. J. Dwyer, of Anaheim, Paul Bailey, Santa Ana engineer who is employed by the association, and Horace C. Head, one of the attorneys representing the association.

According to Head, the representatives of Long Beach claimed that their supply of water was very low and that it was very probable that the city would run out of water before it could be obtained from the Colorado river and that Long Beach had made several purchases of land as a protective measure so that they could gain temporary relief from water shortage if it became necessary. They assure the Orange county group that they would not take water from this county only as a last resort and after all other resources had failed.

Members of the Orange county group, according to reports, replied, declaring that the citizens of this county would have some feeling of relief knowing that Long Beach did not intend to make any further purchases of land in this county and that there was to be no immediate attempt to take water from this county. According to Head, however, Long Beach was given to understand that Orange county would oppose any effort to take water from this county.

Col. C. L. Forbes Revealed As Gas Station Operator

LOS ANGELES, April 17.—(UP)—Col. Charles L. Forbes, former director of the Veterans' bureau, who has served two years in Leavenworth penitentiary for graft in connection with the award of contracts for veterans' hospitals, has been operating a service station in Pasadena for several years, the Los Angeles Examiner said today.

Forbes has sold his interest in the station and left for the east, the paper said, and made no effort to conceal his identity while in Pasadena.

A year ago, Forbes became affiliated with an independent oil company operating in the Kettleman Hills district, and several months ago was in Philadelphia as a representative of this company, the Examiner added. It was believed Forbes intends to make his home in New York City.

WILL ROGERS SAYS:

ABOARD PAN AMERICAN AIRWAYS PLANE, April 17.—[To The Editor of The Register:] You have read of the San Blas Indians, not Sam—but San Blas? Well all morning we flew low over their beautiful coral islands. You can land and visit them but you must get away before night. The old chief won't let you stop after dark, due to his foresight; they are the only 100 per cent pure Indians.

Coast of Colombia is beautiful; Cartagena with its old Spanish ports, near Venezuela, stop for the night at Maracaibo. That's where all the foreign oil is coming in from that put our independent oil companies out of business.

I was told not to drink water in these tropical countries. I had never tried their beer with ham and eggs in the morning, but I am managing to gulp it down. However, I have heard of worse hardships.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

MOTHER, BABY ATTACKED BY MAD BULLDOG

Second Child Also Badly Bitten Before It Is Killed With Hammer

GLENDAL, April 17.—(UP)—A mother and two of her children were bitten by an infuriated dog here today before the mother, Mrs. Zack McMillan, was able to kill the animal with a hammer.

Gertrude McMillan, 4 years old, suffered a badly lacerated left leg, and the mother and Albert McMillan, 11, were slightly bitten as they fought the dog.

The little girl had been thrown to the ground by the dog, of a bull breed, as she and other children played in a vacant lot near the McMillan home.

Mrs. McMillan ran from her home and seized the bulldog by the throat when she heard Gertrude scream. The dog wrenched away and Mrs. McMillan shouted to Albert to bring a hammer as the animal renewed its attack on the mother and daughter.

When the girl arrived with the weapon Mrs. McMillan fought the dog until she killed it with blows on the head.

Police said the animal was owned by a neighbor of the McMillans, who was ordered to keep it confined after it bit a man several days ago. It escaped from a pen last night.

The city health department took the animal's head for rabies tests.

More Americans Reported to Have Been Killed By Bandits at Cabezas

TOWNS ARE LOOTED

Attack on Port of Bluefields Threatened By Leader of Insurgents

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, April 17.—(UP)—A counter-offensive against insurrectionist forces in northeastern Nicaragua was begun today by national guardsmen, led by United States marine officers, and aviators.

The armed forces of Augusto Sandino, insurgent leader, were roaming over a wide area of the rough countryside surrounding Puerto Cabezas and a threat against the port of Bluefields was reported.

Coincident with reports that eight more Americans were killed or missing in the region after an attack on Gracias a Dios, Lieutenant Clyde Darrah and Lieutenant Cursey led 20 national guardsmen from Puerto Cabezas toward the new Vance district to meet a band of 60 outlaws, said to be laying waste to the countryside.

Airplanes were ordered to supplement the marines and guardsmen. The planes will fly along the railroad route to Logtown and thence to Kinslay, Sacklin, Cabo and Gracias a Dios.

The insurrectionists were said to have left Gracias a Dios after looting the town. Albert Taylor and his family and Joseph Caserta, a lumber worker, all of Louisiana, were reported missing—eight in all. There already were 11 Americans killed or missing in the bandit ravaged region. More than a score of natives have been killed.

Gracias a Dios was not burned, according to messages received here, but the entire eastern coast of Nicaragua appeared greatly disturbed by the insurrectionist raids.

Reports received here said there were threats of a determined attack on Bluefields, Pedraza Altamirano, one of the chief lieutenants of Sandino, arrived at San Pedro del Norte with 300 armed men. He was said to be enroute to Bluefields in an effort to attack before the defensive forces there could be strengthened.

The natives in various regions were reported giving the insurrectionists valuable support. But at Puerto Cabezas the foreign population was protected by a gunboat Asheville. The vicinity of Puerto Cabezas was reported quiet.

Calvin Coolidge Says

BY CALVIN COOLIDGE
NORTHAMPTON, Mass., April 17.—The power and right of the people to choose their own form of government has just been exemplified in Spain. Almost as automatically as a prime minister resigns on the adverse vote of a parliament, the King of Spain has abdicated because an election showed that the people wanted a republic.

It took a great deal of moral courage and a great deal of patriotism for a royal family peaceably to surrender the throne and voluntarily to relinquish an inherited privilege to be the head of the government. Such a conception of the kingly office is decidedly modern. No doubt civil war for the present has been averted. If it comes later the king will not be directly responsible for it.

Republics do not come into being ready made. When the holiday celebration is over the people will find that self-government of itself does not solve economic problems. It will be fortunate if the people do not turn on their new public officers as they turned on the king. Meantime nearly everyone will admire the king for his self sacrifice in obeying the popular mandate and will hope that the Spanish people maybe given leadership and wisdom commensurate with their grave situation.

'Y' CIRCUS TO BE PRESENTED AGAIN TONIGHT

A fine show, but a poor crowd, was the general verdict on the Y. M. C. A. circus which gave the first of two performances last night.

A much larger attendance is expected tonight, when the program will be presented for its second and last time for this season. The parade starts at 8 p. m. and the final curtain is at 9:45 p. m. with no pauses between.

To the rousing strains of martial music by the Garden Grove grammar school orchestra, directed by W. G. Axworthy, a floor filling company of boys and girls swung on to the gymnasium floor of Y. M. C. A. last night, in a series of evolutions and stunts of skill under the direction of R. R. Russick, who had the whole affair in hand.

Special mention should be made of the spectacle presented by a massed group of more than 100 boys, who were seen in a drill of motions and poses unlike anything previously presented in Santa Ana. There was hardly room on the floor for all of these lads, but they found places and went through their work with precision and grace. Color was added by the presence of the crack drill team of the local Scouts, the Libyan guard, who gave a demonstration of their work and evolutions.

Benton VanDien, Paul Hales and Jack Monan came in for a large share of applause for their exceptional work in tumbling and gymnastic work. The Akro Bato club, from the Whittier Y. M. C. A. came over to help with the exhibition, and gave a demonstration of skill which added to the general interest. The program was generally conceded to be perhaps the best exhibition of physical education results that Santa Ana has seen. Both in the large number of participants, and in the skill and precision with which they did their work, it was of exceptional quality, and Russick and his helpers were the recipients of many complimentary comments on their efforts.

There was added interest in the fact that this is the seventh annual exhibition of the sort put on under Russick's direction in the seven years that the local Y. M. C. A. building has been in use.

Prospects point to a large audience this evening. The doors will be open at 7:30 p. m., the musical prelude by the orchestra will start at 7:45 p. m. and the show will be on at 8 p. m. There are seats provided to accommodate 500 people, so that no one need stay away for fear of no place to sit.

HUNDREDS TO SEE GRAVE OF RAMONA

HEMET, April 17.—Hundreds of visitors to the Hemet-San Jacinto valley's ninth annual Ramona Pageant Saturday and Sunday afternoons, April 25 and 26, and May 2 and 3, will visit the graves of Ramona and Alessandro and their children in the little hillside cemetery on the Cahulla reservation, it is indicated by the many letters of inquiry now being received at the Ramona Pageant office.

Many persons interested in the historical background of the Ramona story, also will journey to the site of the home in which Ramona and Alessandro lived more than half a century ago. It was here that Alessandro, (his real name was Juan Diego), was murdered by Sam Temple, the notorious bad man of old San Jacinto.

The site of Ramona's home, located in what is known as Juan Diego Flats, is now part of the 3000 acre mountain ranch owned and operated by Grant Morse, of Hemet.

The Ramona Pageant association is fostering a movement for the appropriate marking of these Indian graves, and it is believed that within another year permanent monuments will be erected there. The Indians of the Cahulla tribe are co-operating with the Ramona Pageant association in this project, and this year the entire tribe has been invited to attend the opening performance of the ninth pageant season, April 18, as guests of the people of Hemet and San Jacinto.

Seeks Lodging In Jail; Is Detained For L. A. Officers

Wanted for burglary in Los Angeles county, Joseph B. Lockett, 40, who came to the county jail last night, seeking a night's lodging, was recognized from a newspaper photo by Herman Zabel and immediately locked up for Los Angeles officers.

Lockett, who is a resident of Pasadena, has been wanted in Los Angeles since 1928 and his pictures have been in the files of the bureau of identification since that time. He has a long criminal record which dates back as far as 1914, according to the Los Angeles police, who have arrested him several times. Los Angeles wants him on this occasion for entering a business house, it was reported.

What a Divine Fig--er we mean Swim Suit!

Figuratively speaking, the new Jantzen swimming suits are knock-outs! . . . a great saving has been effected in material this year . . . which makes it possible to sell such intriguing models for $5.50 and $6 . . . and then, they can be conveniently carried in purses, vest pockets, or whatnot! . . . well, anyway, it isn't stretching the truth to say that they are smart, better designed, and good to look at . . . we have men's and women's . . . at $5.50 and $6 . . . misses' and cadets' at $4.25.

After looking over these new swimming suits one thinks of CLOTHES, doesn't one? . . . or does one? . . . men's new suits! . . . swimming in value! . . . swimming in style! (we can't get our mind away from those swimming suits) . . . such as flannel suits at $25 . . . Hart Schaffner & Marx special at $29.50 . . . new two-pants suits at $35 and $39 . . . how splendidly, stylishly, economically, a man can get into the swim!

DEATHS

A WORD OF COMFORT

When you next hear a quartet of strident instruments thrumming it as a parable of life, if one instrument tries to drown out the others and gives them no chance to be heard, the music is spoiled. If one plays so timidly as not to be heard, the effect is ruined. Every one drags or sets off key, the whole selection sounds out of tune.

Do not force upon the world the deep tones of grief with which your heart resounds with insistence that every note of your grief be heard. Live your faith courageously, you must not drop out of the picture. Atone your life to hope and love and eager expectancy; keep up your duties and responsibilities.

While it is true that you are dependent upon others doing their part, remember that they are dependent upon you. If any thing gets off on a key, hold steady, all they get in tune again.

SCHROEDER APPEAL DENIED BY COURT

The appeal of Leo M. Schroeder from his conviction on a grand theft charge after a trial before Judge G. K. Scofield has been dismissed by the fourth district court of appeals on a motion presented by Attorney General U. S. Webb. It was learned today from a remittitur and copy of the opinion of the court which was received by County Clerk J. M. Backs.

Schroeder was found guilty of taking certain bonds owned by a Laguna Beach resident, representing himself as a messenger from the broker who had sold them.

The appeal was dismissed on a technicality, the court ruling that failure to file the written notice and application until November 29, when judgment had been pronounced November 22, left it without jurisdiction. Regulations covering an appeal provide that the notice and application must be filed within five days after judgment is pronounced.

GOLF CLUB MANAGER ROBBED WHILE HE'S UNDER SHOWER

Two bandits who last night held up Joe Szarfinski, professional and manager of the Orange County Golf club on Newport Heights, took an unfair advantage of their victim—Joe was taking a bath at the time.

He reported to sheriff's officers that he was in his shower when one of the bandits pushed the curtains back and pushed an automatic pistol towards him demanding his money. Joe then stood under the shower while the bandit went through his trousers pockets.

The trousers having been left hanging on the wall just outside the shower.

After taking all the cash, $46, the bandit thanked Szarfinski, remarked that "this ought to keep us going for awhile" and walked out of the building.

Szarfinski reported that minus clothes he gave chase but ran across the other bandit outside the building, who halted him. The men then made their escape over a hill to a car on the highway below the golf club.

DR. BEEBE IS DEFENDANT IN DAMAGE ACTION

Dr. J. L. Beebe, well known Anaheim physician, was named defendant in an action asking damages for alleged malpractice, which was filed today in superior court by Madison T. Menton and his wife.

The Mentons asked judgment for $5190 for the death of their infant son, Clinton Menton, born Feb. 9, 1931, which the complaint states was caused by the negligence and carelessness of the Anaheim doctor. The complaint states that Dr. Beebe was retained to perform an operation on the baby on March 29, but that the defendant did so "with unsanitary instruments and so negligently and carelessly and with such want of skill and care that he caused the wound caused by the operation to become virulently infected with disease germs which spread through the entire body of the child," and that the child died on April 7.

The parents also charge in the complaint that the physician failed to give any kind of adequate medical treatment to the child when the infection was spreading and that he "falsely and fraudulently represented that the child was in no danger and would shortly recover," until 10 days prior to his death.

Damages are itemized as $190 for a crypt, funeral expenses and physician's fees, and $5000 for the death of the child as damages accruing by being deprived of the pleasure and comfort and prospective earnings of their son.

Sherman Gets 40 Days On Charge Of Drunk Driving

William Sherman, 42, Santa Ana man arrested at Sixth and Broadway several days ago by police officers after his car was wrecked, and who was charged with driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor, today was sentenced to serve 40 days in the county jail, by Judge J. F. Talbot.

Sherman made bail of $400 for his appearance soon after he was arrested, but when the time came for the hearing, he was not present. The bonding company immediately picked up his trail and he was arrested early this week in San Francisco. Last night he was returned to Los Angeles and today to Santa Ana.

The bail money was forfeited at the time Sherman did not appear, but today the court set aside the order to forfeit and the bonding company was reimbursed.

AUXILIARY AND LEGION STAGE JOINT MEETING

Meeting jointly, the Santa Ana American Legion post and the Legion Auxiliary last night set May 23 as the official time to observe "Poppy Day" in Santa Ana. This is the date set by national auxiliary headquarters and the local post set this date to conform with the dates observed by other cities in the nation.

The poppies are made in California hospitals by disabled veterans, who receive a small sum for each poppy they make. The balance of the money made on the sale of the poppies is used in veteran welfare work.

A pot luck dinner was served at 6:30 p. m. in the Legion hall, and there were over 175 members of the two organizations present. During the dinner hour Huffman's Hawaiian trio entertained the assembly and following them pupils of the Holy Lash Visel studio entertained with dancing, singing, and readings.

During the business session it was decided to hold a special meeting to entertain mothers in observance of Mother's day on May 7. Mrs. Edna Eckland, chairman of the membership committee, reported that the Santa Ana auxiliary was the largest unit in the state, having maintained that position for the last three years. Mrs. Mabel Gowdy, chairman of the junior membership committee, made a report stating that the first club meeting for the junior members will be held May 23 in the Legion hall.

Following the business session a dance was held, lasting from 10 p. m. until midnight. Music was furnished by means of a radio loaned by the Turner Radio company.

Mrs. Dean Culver, president of the Legion Auxiliary, presided over the meeting.

Denies Guilt Of Violating State Medical Ruling

Charles Kent, formerly of Los Angeles, arrested here several days ago by state officers on a charge of violation of the state medical act, pleaded not guilty to the charge today in Justice Kenneth Morrison's court.

His trial was set for May 12 at 9 a. m. and will be held without a jury.

Kent is alleged to have advertised himself as a doctor without having a state license so to do.

CARL MOCK TO LEAD MASONIC FUND WORKERS

F. Carl Mock will lead the soliciting forces of Masons in the financial campaign to be conducted in May for furnishings of Santa Ana's new Masonic Temple, Alex Brownridge, general chairman of the campaign, announced today.

"Mock held a similar position in the campaign which was conducted 18 months ago for funds for the erection of the building itself," Brownridge stated. "We feel fortunate to have his services and leadership again in this furnishings campaign. In the original campaign he proved his ability as an organizer and this experience will be available in the present effort."

The organization chairman immediately announced the appointment of the following men as captains in charge of the five teams of 10 men each in the soliciting forces: A. E. Collins, Orson H. Hunter, Sam Hurwitz, J. G. Sutherland and J. C. Wallace.

All of the captains saw service in the building campaign and it was stated that the team forces would be made up largely of "veterans" of the first fund raising effort.

The furnishings campaign is the final step in the program to make possible for Masonry in Santa Ana one of the finest temples in the country. When the campaign for the building was waged it was contemplated that at a later date it would be necessary to conduct a supplementary campaign for its furnishings, according to Masonic officials, and as the building is now nearing completion, provision for its furnishings must be made, Brownridge said.

STINGRAY HITS FULLERTON BOY WHILE BATHING

Stepping on a stingray (stingray) while swimming at Huntington Beach, Lyle Smith, 21 years old, 805 North Pomona avenue, Fullerton, was stung in the instep by the strange creature and suffered agony. He was rushed to the emergency hospital, where a physician dressed the injured foot. The wound was an ugly one, the flesh being laid open for inches. It is thought the injured man will not suffer any more serious results than intense pain for a few days. This is the first instance of this character to occur at the beach here in years. Usually these deadly sea pests retreat when approached.

The first instance of one offering battle was five years ago when a large stingray was caught at the surf and pulled and driven ashore. When it was finally killed five baby stingrays emerged from pockets at the sides of the mother, much as opossums are carried by the mother opossum in a pouch.

The stingray that stung the beach swimmer yesterday escaped, but it is thought it may have been a mother stingray fighting because of her young.

SAYS DRASTIC PUNISHMENT IS NOT EFFECTIVE

FULLERTON, April 17.—"Drastic punishment of criminals will never tend to decrease the amount of crime against society," Dr. F. W. Emerson, deputy sheriff of Los Angeles county, told members of the Fullerton district junior college and high school law classes last night in the school auditorium. Dr. Emerson spoke on the subject, "Problems in Connection with Crime."

The organization of the Los Angeles county sheriff's office was explained by the speaker, who declared that more than 900 persons are employed in the entire department, which consists of the main office in Los Angeles and nine substations in other cities throughout the county.

He declared that the plan of helping the prisoners who are discharged to secure employment and to assist them in taking their places in society is the only method to reduce crime and it is the method that is now being used in the Los Angeles department.

"We believe that it is the duty of the sheriff's office to preserve peace, protect life and property and also to provide for the future of the discharged prisoners," Dr. Emerson said.

"The first step in the rehabilitation program, which was started in the county, was to organize honor camps, in which groups of men who promised not to attempt to escape were placed, without any armed guards and were allowed to work for pay which was given to them when they were discharged from jail," the speaker explained in referring to the method now in use to help the prisoners.

Employment for the men inside the jail is also provided, with a large annual saving to the county as the result. One of the divisions in the sheriff's department is the contact bureau which attempts to secure positions for the men after they have left the jail, the speaker said. This bureau has proven so successful that at the present time employers in Los Angeles county are willing to hire men who are discharged from the county jail since they have proven as trustworthy and capable as the other employees.

Burglars Remove Store Doors But Leave Minus Loot

ANAHEIM, April 17.—The second attempt to burglarize the Safeway store at Clementine and Center streets within a week was made last night. Anaheim officers previously reported that someone had tried to pry the doors off of the store and last night apparently the same persons came back and succeeded in taking the doors off. According to a report at the police station, nothing was taken and the police are puzzled as to the reason for someone entering the store without taking anything.

DEBATES SUICIDE

LONDON.—Suicide has one champion in Hugh Crichton-Miller, eminent doctor who recently told the National Council of Mental Hygiene that: "Religion tends to be unsympathetic towards suicide of persons suffering from incurable diseases. I feel the individual should be free to make his own choice, and we have no right to dictate a line of action."

PRESCRIPTION in use over 47 Years Really Helps Bowels

Don't you want this way of making the bowels behave? A doctor's way to make the bowels move so well that you feel better all over! Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin doesn't turn everything to water, but cleans out all that hard waste clogging your system. It cleans you out without any shock, for it's only fresh laxative herbs a famous doctor found so good for the bowels, combined with pure pepsin and other harmless ingredients.

A doctor should know what is best for the bowels. Let Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin show you how soon you can train the bowels to move freely, every day, the way they should. It's wonderful the way this prescription works, but it's perfectly harmless; so you can use it whenever a coated tongue or sick headache tells you that you're bilious. Fine for children, too (it tastes so nice) and they ought to have a spoonful the minute they seem fretful, feverish or sluggish, or have a sorrow look.

You can get the original prescription Dr. Caldwell wrote so many years ago; your druggist keeps it all ready in big bottles. Just ask for Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and use it always for constipation.

CALL HEARING AT LAGUNA ON LOT EXCHANGE

LAGUNA BEACH, April 17.—Controversy over the abandonment of a part of the foot of Ocean avenue in exchange for a small triangular plot on Coast boulevard was set for public hearing at the next regular meeting of the city council, May 6. This was the result of a petition of 51 names, supplemented by a letter from G. E. Thompson, Contract with F. S. Currie, engineer, for a survey for sewers in Arch Beach was referred to City Attorney Milburn Harvey for examination, to be submitted to the council for approval. Harvey sat with the council for the first time Wednesday evening.

Argument in the abandonment of a part of Ocean avenue centered about the original ownership and rights of the city, with Councilman C. R. Clapp and Ed Hofer chief participants. Mr. Clapp suggested that two companies be employed to make title searches, but Councilman Frank B. Champion said that the city already has right to the property and he saw no reason for incurring this expense.

In the proposed sewer survey contract, Councilman Champion thought there was much confusion and misunderstanding over the matter. That material already compiled should be used was suggested by him as a matter of economy. Ernest Martin as a citizen asked that this be done. John Jehle said the petition had never been presented to him, Councilman George Wilson making a similar statement. The latter urging economy by using material already available. City Engineer Frank P. Gowan said there were 200 signatures to the petition asking for a survey.

E. M. Buckius asked that the council again consider abandonment of an alley and Saturday afternoon was set for investigation of the property. The matter has previously been turned down by the council.

Firemen will advance money. Fire Chief Peter J. Bushman told the council, to finish the upper story of the fire station. Contractor John C. Schleicher estimated the cost at $715 to $775, depending on whether painted or not, plaster, tile for shower and bath, and hardware to be included. It was referred to the attorney for drawing an agreement for refund of the money advanced. John Brickles, former fire commissioner, urged that the work be done.

BOOTS AND HER BUDDIES

Down—Down—!! !!

BOOTS' PLANE HAS GONE TO JOIN THE COLLECTION OF A SCORE OF OTHERS IN DAVEY JONES' LOCKER!! BUT, BOOTS DIDN'T GO WITH IT!!! WAY UP IN THE CLOUDS, WHILE SHE STILL HAD A CHANCE, SHE GATHERED UP ALL THE PARAPHERNALIA SHE COULD CARRY, BUCKLED ON HER PARACHUTE AND JUMPED

B-BOY!!! IT'S LUCKY I BROUGHT THIS INFLATED LIFE RAFT ALONG

WELL...WHEN LINDBERGH LANDED, TH' CROWD NEARLY MOBBED 'IM AN' TORE HIS PLANE T'PIECES—I WON'T HAVE T'WORRY ABOUT THAT

Wee Scouty cried, "How did you get into that little boat? I'll bet you think you've played a trick on us by riding all alone." "Why, sure," said Carpy, "I am slick and that's how I played this trick. Instead of riding with you all, I travel on my own."

"Say, youngster, I like spunk like that and to you I take off my hat," exclaimed the kindly Travel Man. "You'll always get along. A lad who works his own sweet way is bound to find that it will pay." Then Carpy said, "I hired this boat, so there is nothing wrong."

They rode until they grew tired out and then the whole bunch scrambled out upon the shore. The Travel Man then said, "We'll leave today. I've hired a plane so we can fly to Hongkong." Then there came a cry from all the happy Tynmites of "Hip, hip, hip hurray!"

They shortly bid Bangkok good-bye and sailed forth up into the sky.

"How long's it going to take us?" asked wee Scouty, with a smile. "Oh, hours and hours," the Travel Man replied. "Be patient as you can. And, if you want to, take a snooze for just a little while."

With wondrous speed they moved along and not a single thing went wrong. It didn't seem so long until the Travel Man cried out, "I see the town of Hongkong, boys, and soon we'll find some brand new joys. Before we leave we'll find out what the place is all about."

They landed shortly, safe and sound and bumped a bit along the ground. And then they took an auto, all expecting quite a treat. Arriving in the town, they saw some sights that filled them all with awe. Each Tyn felt real thrilled to see a narrow Chinese street.

we'd give the girl a hand. She's all right, I've got a blind brother that would have starved to death if it hadn't been for Nance Belden; as for the man the doctor's working over now, Nance took care of his wife while he was in stir. Helped her when she had a baby. Chief, that girl's a saint. The only trouble with her is that she's a devil, too. You never know how to figure her. "You've figured her right, she's queer. And what's your wounded friend been doing since he got out of stir? What did he get in for?" "He got in for bootlegging and he's been bodyguard for a boss bootlegger since he got out." "H'm-m! And what's your specialty?" "I don't know what line I'll take up, Chief. I've only been out of the United States Army Disciplinary Barracks on Alcatraz Island a month. I was a soldier—and I poked an officer."

the man at the Browning gun there. Well, you're quite a fellow! What does your friend, the chauffeur, do?"

"Delivers bootleg. He took a chance for a friend."

"You may go," said Dan McNamara to the chauffeur. "Take your car and beat it. But I'll remember you and if you pull any rough stuff in this city I'll land you out in the grass. On your way."

The man fled promptly, and Dan turned to the ex-soldier. "I've got Nance out at my house," he explained. "Dr. Burt has fixed her up and I'm not going to turn her in. Neither am I going to turn her out because she wouldn't be out two hours before she'd be picked up. That saddle nose of hers is a dead-give-away."

The man nodded lugubrously. "We've got to find a quiet spot for your friend, too," the chief went on meditatively. "A man with three bullet-holes in him I sin an embarrassing fix—when he's wanted. So we'll take him out to my house, too. That's the only safe place I can think of."

"How about me?"

"You've been a soldier, so I suppose you can carry out orders?"

"Yes, sir."

"Well, your orders are to come out to my house, too, and take care of your friends. The doctor will call every day and tell you what to do. And you'll have to do the cooking."

"I can do that, too. Not fancy, but they can eat it."

"All right, you've got a job and a home now and get my car and come back for you and your friend. Meanwhile don't you get cold feet and disappear. I want to talk to you some more. I want to find out all about Nance Belden, and you and your friend might be able to give me a line on her."

"I don't know anything about her, Chief, except that her real name is Penelope Gatlin."

Dan McNamara clasped his coruscated brow in both hands and pondered. "Gatlin! Gatlin! Penelope Gatlin! Now, where have I run across that name in my business? I don't usually forget names, and I seem to remember I had a call once for somebody by that name or else somebody by that name called on me. It was a long time ago, I'll have to look that up—I order if there's anything in the files at headquarters."

It was midnight before Nance Belden's two friends were installed with her in Dan McNamara's house. Lanny looked both men over carefully and confided to the chief that she wouldn't trust either one of them as far as she could throw a bear by its tail, to which Mr. McNamara replied that one of them couldn't raise any deviltry if he wanted to, while the other dared not. Moreover, this latter was the only practical nurse he could secure. A trained nurse might talk; on the other hand, this friend of Nance's had been educated to keep his mouth shut. "And a very great virtue," McNamara added. "His freedom is in my keeping and my honor is in his, so we have to trust each other. Besides, it's high time you got home."

"How about those two cops waiting for me?"

"Greet them kindly, ask them their business and invite them to talk it over before they can tell you what it is. When they tell you, permit them to search your home and be cheerful about it."

The phone rang and Dan answered it. When he rejoined Lanny he was smiling broadly. "You're a bum mopper-up," he accused. "That was Flynn, one of the detective-sergeants on watch at your house. He found two drops of blood you overlooked, so he thinks you and Nance are in the house but refuse to answer the bell, and he wants permission to break in, in the name of the law. He says he can slide the latch on your front door-lock like nobody's business. I told him to wait another hour and then try it, but to be careful."

Lanny's independent and belligerent nature was instantly aroused. "If I couldn't give a snooper like that cards and spades, the four aces, big and little casino, and beat him to death on the sweeps, I'd kiss a cow," she declared. "Guess I'll go home and make those big boobs feel ashamed of themselves for disturbing a lady."

"Whatever you do, be nice to them," he warned earnestly. "If you get snooty with them, Lanny, they'll just wait you down to Central Station and stow you away for the night—with the excuse that the chief wants to see you. And I've decided I don't know you. If I did I'd go home with you."

He escorted Lanny out to her car and with a flash-light examined it very carefully again for signs of blood. He found two dried splashes and wiped them away before permitting her to depart.

As Lanny entered the driveway and paused in front of her garage, there were no detectives in sight. Although there might have been had she deemed it the part of wisdom to glance carefully about her. She unlocked the garage door, climbed back in her car, drove in, stopped the motor and switched off the lights. Then she got out, closed and locked the garage door and turned on an electric light switch on the door-post to light her way upstairs to her kitchen.

Then she almost screamed. Two big fellows wearing soft hats were standing behind her car, gazing at her owlishly. Instantly Lanny switched off the light, got her little pistol out of her bag and switched the light on again.

"Now what do you two handsome devils want?" she demanded.

Like automatons, the pair threw back their lapels and disclosed their shields. "Cops or no cops,"

Lanny announced, "my garage is my castle, and you can't come in to it uninvited without a search-warrant."

The two detectives looked at each other and Lanny realized that they appreciated her very much indeed. "She's a lawyer," said one of them. "Not a very good one, though."

The other replied, "However, Pat, let her have her own way. A woman—the outrageous fellow bowed low—and particularly a young and beautiful woman—with a pistol—always makes me nervous. If you will be good enough to open your garage door, Miss Lanning, we will go out, come up your front stairs, ring the bell like gentlemen, and ask if we can't come in and have a little chat with you. Is that satisfactory?"

"Eminently so," Lanny was as polite as the speaker now. She felt for the bolt in back of her, slid it back and kicked the door open without taking her eyes or her pistol off the pair. They went out, closed both doors behind her and held them closed until she had shot the bolt home again. Then she went upstairs and let herself in just as her door-bell rang; so she switched on the lights, removed her hat and coat, went to the door and opened it. Instantly, two large hands thrust out cards at her; whereupon she was aware that she was about to entertain Detective-Sergeant P. Flynn and Detective-Sergeant A. Angellotti.

"Good evening, gentlemen," Lanny greeted them cordially. "Come in and rest your big flat feet."

P. Flynn nodded wisely to A. Angellotti. "She resents us, Amadeo," said he.

"Oh, I hope not, Pat. Let us hope it is not us she resents but our honorable profession." The wretch bowed again. "Thank you, Miss Lanning." And both gentlemen entered.

Lanny led them down the hall to her tiny drawing-room. Angellotti, like a hound followed close behind her, but Flynn was in no hurry. He swept the runner in the hall with a flash-light first, then followed his partner into the drawing-room, and sat down heavily on a divan.

"Is this to be a long interview?" Lanny asked cheerfully. P. Flynn shook his head. "A minute or two."

"Then I'll not both about giving you anything to drink."

"Well, it might take ten minutes at that," Flynn countered.

"At least that," Angellotti agreed. "Besides, Pat, she works for a doctor and her stuff is probably good old prescription goods."

"We been hours out in the cold," Flynn added sadly.

Lanny mixed her guests each a highball. P. Flynn drank half of his at a gulp, set down his glass and said:

"Well, where's Nance Belden?"

"I see by the papers she escaped from San Quentin about six hours ago."

"She came here," Flynn charged. "Prove it," Lanny challenged tartly; whereupon Flynn went out into the entrance hall and returned, dragging the end of the hall runner with him. He turned it over and revealed a large dark red spot. "Blood!" he announced.

Angellotti touched the spot. "Fresh blood!"

"Human blood," Flynn went on. "Quite a clot of it. She must have fainted after Miss Lanning let her in. Undoubtedly she lay several minutes in hall bleeding while Miss Lanning was fixing a bed for her."

"We know she came here," Angellotti charged. "We found two spots of blood on the sidewalk."

"That settles it," Flynn declared with ponderous finality. "Miss Lanning, you have this female convict secreted in your house and I advise you to give her up. Come now, give her up, he wheedled,

"and we'll just give it out that we caught her trying to get into your house during your absence. We'll protect you."

"Search my house," Lanny offered in a queer, choked voice. She loathed herself for having overlooked that large blood stain on her hall runner. (To Be Continued)

Martinez Beats 'Berto'

'SOCK APPEAL' MISSING FROM DELHI WINDUP

Sometimes you simply can't blame reformers who single out boxing and make it a target for verbal abuse.

Sometimes boxing has it coming. Six months ago a pretty terrible fighter by the name of Humberto Gutierrez, profusely described as the lightweight champion of Mexico, was brought here to Box

Richie King, blond veteran of many fights.

Gutierrez took a dive, went down without being hit. He repeated this performance several times and finally the referee contemptuously disqualified him, withheld his purse, had him suspended.

Gutierrez Adopts New Name. Last night the Orange County Athletic club advertised a main event between Vincent Martinez and one Johnny Berto, the latter described as a sensational newcomer from Ventura with many knockouts to recommend him.

But to press row, Berto looked suspiciously like Humberto Gutierrez. He acted like Gutierrez, too. He WAS Gutierrez.

"Gutierrez" Berto went down without being hit in the first round, thought better of it and climbed up to go the rest of the route in better fashion than those with quick memories thought he would or could.

Martinez shellacked him vigorously, winning six of the ensuing eight rounds, but "Gutierrez" at least stuck with the ship this time although Martinez was stronger, more willing.

The program drew fairly well, the house being approximately one-third full, but emphasized that matches featuring outdoor boxers exclusively have no "sock" appeal and are dangerous for local con-

FIVE DONS SET FOR JAYCEE TRACK MEET

Going into the battle with one of their "big guns" already exploded, five Santa Ana Jaycee tracksters will attempt to horn into the scoring column of the annual Southern California Junior College conference track meet at Riverside tomorrow.

Coach Bill Cook has fond hopes of stealing some of the thunder of a few high-touted track teams but his potent squad was prematurely crippled when Doyle Gilbert, star broad jumper and vaulter, developed a sore foot and was unable to qualify in the preliminaries Wednesday.

As it is, the Cookmen have a chance to score 15 points but will come closer to 10 or an even dozen. Melvin Beatty and Art Jacques have the ability to cop the blue ribbon in the javelin and high jump respectively and Captain Tom Donahue, Don Dresser and Bob Durbin may be fortunate enough to score in the mile, half hurdles and two-mile. It is a foregone conclusion that Compton, Long Beach and Los Angeles will scrap it out for first honors.

PLAN CARNERA-SHARKEY BOUT JUNE 10 AS PRIMO CLEARED

NEW YORK, April 17.—(UP)—Primo Carnera again is free to ply his trade in New York state, and official announcement of a bout between Carnera and Jack Sharkey, at Ebbets field, Brooklyn, on June 10, is expected early next week.

The suspension placed on Carnera for participation in an alleged fake bout in California last summer, was lifted yesterday by the New York state athletic commission.

Members of the commission refused to comment on the reinstatement other than to declare that the action spoke for itself. Unofficially, it was reported that Carnera was reinstated in order that he might meet Sharkey under the promotion of James J. Johnston. Sharkey and Johnston are regarded as the commissions' "fair-haired boys" and it is believed that the Sharkey-Carnera bout will carry recognition by the commission as a "world's championship" contest.

PASADENA HERE TOMORROW FOR COLLEGE GAME

Pasadena, rated one of the baseball powers in the Southern California jaycee conference, will visit Poly field tomorrow to do battle with Coach Clyde Cook's Santa Ana junior college club in the third league tussle of the year for the Cookmen.

Santa Ana has an excellent chance to topple the proud Bulldogs, but will be handicapped by the absence of Melvin Beatty, hard-hitting and capable catcher, who will be in Riverside for the conference track meet. As a result, Coach Cook probably will shove Joe Gifford in his place. Gifford hasn't played this year but has a good prep record.

If "Bomo" Koral doesn't start in the pitcher's box or is relieved at any time, he will do the catching, being at home in any position on the field. His services on the mound will probably be needed, however, since he is the best pitcher on the squad.

Los Fullerton can also take his turn if needed.

The Dons nosed out Compton last week, 6 to 3, in a 10-inning affair but lost to Long Beach, 3 to 1. With the exception of Beatty, there will be no other changes on the team, unless Paul Wright is shifted to third base from second. Wright played a sparkling game on the hot corner against Riverside this week and may share the spot with Les Fullerton. This leaves Dante Siracusa, an excellent infielder, to hold down second base.

Don Johnson will be at his usual station on first base and Charles Andres will take care of the chores at shortstop. In the garden, Elmer Wheeler will patrol center, Russell Sullivan right and Burton Allen left. In the course of the game, Coach Cook will probably insert Leonard Natland, Gerald Scott, Emmett Seacord and Wilton Hilliard.

Mrs. Kistinger In Low Putt Victory

Using 28 strokes on the greens, Mrs. W. F. Kistinger finished first in the Santa Ana Country club's Class B low putt tournament for women yesterday. Mrs. Dora Rodgers was second and Mrs. G. R. Holmes, Mrs. Don Andrews and Mrs. W. W. Foote tied for third. Mrs. L. W. Blodgett won the Class C low putt play.

Class A golfers did not report their scores.

36 Holes Of Medal Play At Golf Club

Most of the Santa Ana Country club's playing membership is expected to participate this week-end in a 36-hole medal play golf tournament in which an expensive driver will go to the winner, golf stockings to the second place holder and golf balls to the third winner.

Entrants may play 18 holes Saturday and 18 Sunday or 36 all on either day, according to Caddy-master Burnette Lane.

A 75-cent entry fee will be levied.

STARS IN LAST PRACTICE BALL GAME TONIGHT

Terminating their successful spring exhibition series of eight games, Santa Ana Stars travel to Riverside tonight for a return engagement with Roy Hunt's colorful Rubes.

This set-to pairs the Southern California night baseball champions of 1929 and 1930, Santa Ana having succeeded Riverside to the throne by beating Colton last summer. The Rubes won their flag from Long Beach in '29.

The 1931 editions of the two teams met in the Bowl here Monday night with Santa Ana winning rather easily, 5-2. The Stars knocked Jim Duncan, Riverside's best chucker, out of the box in three innings and went on to win in a breeze behind Joe Ochoa's brilliant fast-ball pitching, Riverside getting its runs late in the game.

George Lackaye, Santa Ana manager, has indicated that Mearl Youel will work most of tonight's affair. This arrangement will allow Lackaye to save Ochoa and Joe Cornelius for the National league opener at Whittier Tuesday, the manager not having made up his mind which of his star fingers will draw the assignment.

Youel has impressed the railbirds with his efficient work in earlier practice contests and will be carried by the club for relief duty and exhibition games that may be arranged. Riverside is expected to give Duncan a chance for revenge.

The slim slinger has always been hard to beat at Hunt stadium. As "Opening Day" draws nearer, Lackaye has solved one problem only to create another. By shifting the versatile Leavitt Daley to third base, he has settled that question apparently to everyone's satisfaction. But he now must determine who will take Daley's post at second. And, of course, the season long problem of replacing that big man of leisure, Bill Cole, at first base, is still a problem for the bald boss to worry about.

Lackaye admits he is still in a quandary. He says he may not make up his mind until just before game-time Tuesday. The second base job is between Darwin Scott and Phil Schrott and they both have much to recommend them. Scott started against Colton Wednesday so Schrott is due for a chance.

Scott had the poorest season of his career in 1930 but is hustling this spring and hitting hard even if not safely. He appears surer of himself at second base than third. Schrott has fielded well at both positions but has not been in enough games to indicate what he can do with the bat. He was a .330 hitter for Anaheim last summer.

Ed Daley and John Lutz are still contending for the first base assignment. They are blasting batsmen but only mediocre fielders. Having used Daley Wednesday, Lackaye probably will start Lutz tonight.

FAVOR CHAFFEY OVER S. A. IN TRACK BATTLE

The host usually wins at poker and track, so tomorrow Chaffey union high school of Ontario should, according to all dope, center to victory in its own seventh annual Invitational Inter-scholastic meet.

Santa Ana is defending champion, having won the Chaffey classic three times in the past four years, but the Saints appear out-powered this season. They were shorn of their title at the Huntington Beach Invitational last month, and the Huntington Beach affair usually attracts virtually the same schools that line up each spring on the Ontario oval.

Now that they have two hand-holds on the cup and one more will give them permanent possession, the Saints would like nothing better than spring a surprise and win the battle for points again, but their hopes appear faint.

Saints Picked For Second

The Saints should place second to Chaffey but even this position is not secure. All inland schools and most of the Orange county ones have sent full and strong entry lists.

The following schools are entered: Anaheim, Bonita, Brea, Olinda, Chaffey, Citrus, Claremont, Coachella, Colton, Corona, Covina, El Centro, El Monte, Elsinore, Fullerton, Garden Grove, Harvard, Hemet, Holtville, Huntington Beach, Monrovia, Orange, Pasadena, Pomona, Redlands, Riverside, San Bernardino, Santa Ana and Tustin. Preliminaries begin at 9:50 a. m. the finals at 1:30 p. m.

Colton, a team that was not represented at Huntington Beach, appears particularly impressive on its recent showing in the Tri-County league meet. The Trail-roads boast a 26-second low hurdler in Coe, two 5:10 high jumpers in Hobson and Crunk, and at 21-foot broad jumper in Hall. Colton won ten first places in the Tri-County meet.

Chaffey has a well balanced squad, capable of making points in nearly every event. Brown, a 4:40 miler, Meek, a 50-foot high putter and 6-foot high jumper, and Graber a 120-foot discus spinner, are the leading lights of the Ontario team.

Jacques May Break Record

Coach Clyde Patton will take a full squad inland with Captain Paul Jacques, Jim Daneri, Ray Cartwright, Tom Chapman, "Toy" Blower, "Red" Kidder and Lawrence Lutz most likely to score. Jacques holds the Chaffey meet record in the high jump at 5:9.1-4 which he figures to better. Daneri is a possible winner of the low hurdles and the discus.

The best of the other Orange county county bearers are Phil Newman, Tustin's classy hurdler; Paul Jungkeit, Anaheim's bread-winning broad jumper, and Ira McCarter, Orange sprinter and quarter-miler.

Records for the meet follow:

100 yard dash—10.2 seconds; Bear, Santa Ana, 1927; Casey, Pomona, 1929; Koenig, Huntington Beach, 1930.

220 yard dash—21.6 seconds; Dow, Redlands, 1928; Casey, Pomona, 1929.

440 yard dash—50.8 seconds; Woessner, Redlands, 1929.

880 yard run—2 min. 3.6 sec.; Hoovers, Chaffey, 1927.

1 mile run—4 minutes, 39.3 sec.; Lockaby, San Bernardino, 1928.

120 yard high hurdles—15.8 sec.; Rebolin, Santa Ana, 1929.

220 yard low hurdles—24 sec.; Paul, Santa Ana, 1930.

880 yard relay—1 min. 33.7 sec.; Santa Ana, 1930.

Discus throw—142 feet, 5 inches; Steiner, Chaffey, 1927.

Shot put—36 feet, 10 inches; Gray, Chaffey, 1929.

Pole vault—12 feet, 3 inches; Grabe, Chaffey, 1929.

High jump—5 feet, 9 1/4 inches; P. Jacques, Santa Ana, 1930.

Broad jump—22 feet, 1/4 inch; Paul, Santa Ana, 1930.

With their catcher and second best hitter out of the lineup with a broken finger, the Frances E. Willard Juniors high school eighth grade baseball team lost to the Fullerton eighth grade line, 4 to 0, yesterday. One of the two hits Willard was able to get was a pretty three-bagger by Beall.

SOME CHIPS OFF THE OLD BASEBALL BLOCK

Maybe there's something to heredity in a baseball way, too. Four players with Pacific Coast university baseball teams are sons of old time diamond stars. Left to right, Al Hildebrand, Southern California third baseman, whose father, George Hildebrand, is an American league umpire after years of playing in the Coast League; Orv Mohler, Trojan shortstop, son of "Kid" Mohler, old time infield star and now U. S. Naval academy baseball coach; Bert Delmas (left) and Mac Cutshaw of Stanford, both infielders. Old Bert Delmas was a leading Coast league shortstop. George Cutshaw—Mac's dad—went to the majors from the Coast league and for years was Brooklyn's second baseman.

LONG BEACH IN 10-0 TRIUMPH OVER S. A. NINE

Held in chancery by the strong right arm of Barney Taylor, Long Beach pitching ace, Santa Ana high school's baseball team dropped another Coast Preparatory league game at Long Beach yesterday, 10 to 0.

Taylor fanned 15 of Coach Bill Foote's best batsmen and after the second inning gave them only one hit and that a "blooper." The Saints were limited to four blows in all.

"Babe" Gordon went the full route for Santa Ana and banged hard but his mates fielded poorly back of him, ten errors being charged to the Saint defense. Everybody on the squad made at least one error except Catcher Halderman and Outfielders Kneeland and Lutz.

Long Beach scored once in the first inning, two in the second, one in the fourth, two in the fifth, one in the seventh and three in the eighth, Santa Ana errors mixing with Long Beach hits in the sporadic attacks.

The end is now right around the corner for the Santa Ana nine, the Footemen closing their conference season at Fullerton next week. They have won two games, lost four this year.

Ty Hopes Wife Will Drop Suit For Separation

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 17.—(UP)—Tyrus Raymond Cobb, former baseball player and manager, now returning to his home from the Pacific coast, has informed a friend here by telephone that he does not want his wife to pursue her suit for divorce.

Cobb informed the friend that he "hoped she would not continue the action," but that if she did, he would do nothing to contest it. He said he hoped to effect a reconciliation. However, Mrs. Cobb's lawyer said that she intended to press the suit.

ORANGE SHOW TRACK MEET IS APRIL 25

Track and field athletes from upwards of 20 Southern California high schools, having an enrollment under 1000 each, are expected to enter the third annual meet sponsored by the Orange County Valencia Orange Show and Fair on the Anaheim oval Saturday, April 25, according to Edward F. Kroun, Anaheim track coach and meet manager.

Catalina high school was first to enter a team with three boys coming to the mainland to pit their speed and stamina against the best in this vicinity. Catalina has an entry in the furlong, half mile and mile events.

Last year 14 schools competed with Harry Sheue's powerful Huntington Beach Spudders, led by fleet Alvin Koenig, copping the championship trophy with 36 points.

CARDS, BEARS MEET IN TRACK, BASEBALL

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, April 17.—"Dink" Templeton's Stanford track and field team will be out to score its 20th victory over the University of California in the annual dual meet here tomorrow. Of the 37 meets between the two rivals, California has won 16, Stanford 19, and 2 have been ties. The Bears have not won a meet since 1923.

With the championship of the California Intercollegiate Baseball association at stake, nine of Stanford and California meet for the third game of their annual series here immediately after the "Big Meet."

Although the Cardinals have already won the series title by taking the first two games, 3-2 and 9-1, Saturday's contest should be a thriller. Norm Horner, who prior to this season, had not lost a game to Stanford in two years, will doubtless occupy the mound for the Bears. Dan Johnson, the Indians' star sophomore hurler, who won the first two games from the Blue and Gold, will again be on the firing line.

sumption. Santa Ana and its environs may be in the "sticks" but folks here have automobiles, tailored clothes and all modern conveniences. They think as much and as well as they do in larger cities. Uptown fighters will not get away with more here than they will at the big clubs.

Jimmy Alvarado defeated Rickey Hall so decisively in the second of three eight-round features that Referee Frankie Dolan stopped it at the end of the sixth and announced that in his opinion Hall had no chance "so I'm going to give the decision to Alvarado at this time." Dolan's move was in accordance with a new regulation of the state boxing commission.

O'Hara Outclasses Bolo
Bobby O'Hara dealt out terrific punishment to Mission Bolo, a Filipino who had only courage to recommend him. Bolo was as game as $700 and could have "good signed" long before with good grace but stood up at the firing line as long as his legs would keep him upright. When he went down it was for good.

Harry Patrick O'Hannigan, the new "wild man," outclassed Sador Arcadio Nibleris. The Santa Ana took every round decisively. "Silent" Johnny Rosenbloom did not keep anyone in suspense. He dived in the first round to the tough Pete Cardenas.

With the football world outside singing his name, marveling at his strategy and "pey-chology," waiting to get a glimpse of him or shake his hand, here was "Old Rock" bending over a torn knee, seeing to it personally that a strained back was properly taped and treated.

Rockne was great. But what seems to be higher tribute than all was the fact that his heart was always right. It never changed.

One Act Play Tournament Opens Before Big Audience

ALL SOUTHLAND SENDS VISITORS TO SANTA ANA

Marked by a spirit of camaraderie and an enthusiasm that has grown in five years to amazing proportions, the Annual tournament of one-act plays now in session in this city, had the most auspicious opening in its history last night, when the first of three nights' programs was presented in the Ebell auditorium before an audience that required practically every seat in the house, so warm was the interest shown.

Long before the opening hour of 8 o'clock, players and their friends began gathering in the clubhouse, intent upon greeting those with whom acquaintance had been formed at previous tournaments, and chatting of activities of individual groups in the interval since last spring's tournament. The widespread interest aroused by these dramatic events, of which the current tournament is the fifth, is indicated by the fact that while only two nights have been required for the offering in previous years, the present tournament, opening last night, will continue tonight and tomorrow night with 12 different Southland groups competing for the two silver cups and the minor prizes offered by different members of the host organization, Santa Ana Community Players' association.

The Emma Otis cup, donated by Mrs. William E. Otis, and the Santa Ana cup, the gift of Carl Strook, will be the visible rewards for excellence, but each of the 12 competing groups will gain an intangible regard no small part of which will be taking part in something of such general interest, and giving such a thoroughly delightful evening.

LIONS PLANNING DELEGATION AT DISTRICT MEET

Plans for a record attendance at the Lions convention of district No. 4, to be held at Yosemite in June, occupied most of the attention at yesterday's meeting of the Lions club, at Ketter's cafe.

Dr. Elliott Rowland, of the Santa Ana club, is being pushed for district governor by his fellow Lions, and this added incentive promises to be the means of getting out perhaps a 100 per cent attendance from Santa Ana.

In connection with the observance of the seventh anniversary of the local Y. M. C. A. building, W. K. Hillyard introduced Robert Tannenbaum, one of the "Y" boys, who presented a statement on the work that is being done for and by boys. The Lions club was particularly active in the campaign nine years ago which resulted in the erection of the present building for the Y. M. C. A., and their interest in this service for boys has been keen all through the years.

Tannenbaum spoke as follows: "In every community there are those influences which build up and those which tear down the life of its citizens. Our fair Santa Ana is just such a city. You men know of the several factors tearing down the life of the community's youth, and it is not of these that I wish to speak today. Rather will I call to your attention some of those which build up the life of the city; one such influence in particular.

"As the first of these uplifting factors we have the home, since homes are the basic foundation of a community. Next it takes schools to educate the members of the homes. Third it takes the churches to give the people religious consciousness. Factories and business houses supply the people with jobs and bring prosperity to the community.

"There is yet another organization which is a community builder in our city as well as in many others. This builder is the Young Men's Christian association. It works with the home, the school and the church. It links in with the commercial house and industry for the sole purpose of building manly character and in aiding youth with their problems.

"It is my understanding that your club gives much of its support to boys' organizations. The Y. M. C. A. is one of the chief boys' organizations in this community. The three fold purpose of the "Y" is to develop the spirit, the mind and the body. Let us see how they reach this goal. The spirit is developed by creating a religious consciousness in the boy through religious talks at the "Y," through a constant spiritual attitude in all things associated with the "Y" and through the "Y" camp, Camp Osceola. The mind is developed by talks on interesting subjects by men and boys, and by interesting instruction afforded at the camp and at the local "Y." The body is developed through the facilities offered at the "Y" building as well as at the camp. These opportunities for advancement are accepted by many people, as is proven by the fact that 21 times the population of Santa Ana have passed through the "Y" building during the seven years since it was erected, or a city nearly the size of San Francisco; that 125 boys from Santa Ana use the summer camp during Santa Ana period each year, and that an average of 15 boys per year unite with the church.

"Personally I belong to a religion which does not follow all the way with the religious teachings of the 'Y,' but in spite of that fact it is possible for me, and for many others like me, to take advantage of the benefits of the 'Y' in its program of building strong, symmetrical manhood. In the membership of the association you will find representatives of all creeds and no creed. Catholic, Protestant, Jew or whatever religious background we may have, the 'Y' is big enough to include all of us in its great triangle of service, and we are made better by those parts of it which we can take and use for ourselves. "You men have noticed that I

DR. LAWS WILL OPEN NEW CLASS

Dr. Gertrude Laws will open her third and last series of afternoon classes in parental education at the Wilson school, corner of Washington and Baker, next Tuesday at 2 p. m. She has held a series of four meetings each in the Lowell and the Roosevelt school.

These afternoon series have been placed in widely separated schools in hope of interesting as many mothers as possible in the value of this work, said Mrs. Golden Weston, director of adult education. "No mother in Santa Ana can afford to miss this expert presentation of the problems dealing with adult-child relations and the fundamental principles of how to solve these problems. Over 300 have participated in these classes."

The highest railway in the world is the Central Railway of Peru which reaches an altitude of 15,365 feet and has its highest railway station at 15,335 feet.

'COLLEGE CONVICTS'

New Orleans' best-looking "jail birds" are Virginia Catlin, left, and Sara Forsythe, who appeared on Newcomb College campus wearing stripes and carrying a ball and chain in protest against a ruling that they should remain within the college grounds for two weeks without dates because they remained out too late one night. "It was just like solitary confinement," Miss Catlin said, "so we decided to wear stripes and carry a ball and chain as convicts do."

ASKS $53,000 IN SUIT OVER GIRL'S DEATH

Injuries suffered by herself and her daughter when the car in which they were riding struck a storm drain at an asserted high rate of speed, resulting in the death of her daughter and impairment of her ability to work, were the basis of a damage action yesterday afternoon by Mrs. Eva Schulman in which judgment of $53,000 is asked.

Defendants in the case are Blanche Kaminer, who was driving the car at the time it hit the storm drain, and Ruth and Marion Volk, owners of the machine.

The injuries received by Mrs. Schulman, a widow, and her 15 year old daughter, Molly, as a result of the machine striking the storm drain across Central avenue at North College street, in La Habra last January caused the death of the girl on the following day and required hospital treatment for a period of two months and services of physicians for an indefinite period for the mother, the complaint said.

The plaintiff asserted in the complaint that Miss Kaminer drove into the storm drain at a speed of 40 miles an hour, disregarding warnings. Mrs. Schulman, who is 45, stated that she was earning $300 a month and was a manager of stores in the mercantile business, but will not be able to do any work in the future. Her life expectancy is set at 23.81 years.

Damages are itemized as $35,000 for the injuries to the plaintiff and $18,000 for the loss of the companionship, support and services of her daughter as caused by her death.

Salvation Army Band Will Play

Parties are being planned in this city by members and friends of the Salvation Army, to motor to Long Beach April 27, to hear the concert by the Salvation staff band of the western territory which is making a tour of the 11 states comprising that sector of the Army forces. The band, led by Staff Capt. Ernest Higgins, son of the international head of the Salvation Army, will give the full program, open to the public. The concert will be held in First Methodist church, Long Beach, at 7:30 p. m. A crowd of 1800 people heard the band when it appeared in the same place last year. No admission fee will be charged.

MISSIONARIES TO BE GUESTS HERE

Missionaries from Addis Ababa, Abyssinia, who are now in the United States on furlough, will be guests at a reception in their honor at the United Presbyterian church tonight commencing at 7 o'clock. They are Mr. and Mrs. Fred Russell and children who have been stationed in Abyssinia for the past five years.

The Santa Ana church has assisted in the support of these missionaries in the field, who are on their way home for a year's furlough, according to the Rev. W. H. McPeak, church pastor. A program for the event has been arranged including special musical numbers and several talks of welcome.

Russell, who is personally acquainted with the recently coronated emperor of Abyssinia and who was present at those colorful ceremonies, will occupy the pulpit at the church for both services on Sunday. At the evening service he will give an illustrated lecture on conditions in Abyssinia. He will be the guest of honor at a dinner for men of the church on Monday night.

DENIES FOWLS IN EARLY CAR WERE STOLEN

Mrs. C. L. Cameron, Anaheim residents and one of three occupants of a car driven by J. F. Early, of Montebello, when the car overturned near Anaheim last Sunday night, today stated that four chickens found in the machine, which according to sheriff's officers were identified as having been stolen, were not stolen at all, but had been purchased earlier in the evening for a Sunday dinner. She said the chickens were purchased from Mrs. W. E. Thomas, of Orangehorpe and Thomas street, near Anaheim.

The accident occurred, Mrs. Cameron stated, not when Early attempted to get away from the pens of a rancher residing near the place, but when the lights on the machine suddenly went out and caused the machine to collide with a coupe parked at the side of the road.

Mrs. Cameron and Early received cuts and bruises and Mrs. M. L. Davis, sister of Mrs. Cameron, the other occupant of the car, received serious injuries from which she is still suffering in the county hospital.

Early was arrested soon after the crash and was fined $100 on a reckless driving charge later in the Fullerton Justice court. He pleaded guilty to the charge.

Tells How To Get Rid of Rheumatism In 48 Hours

BIG 8 OUNCE BOTTLE FOR ONLY 85 CENTS

It Is Guaranteed

Thousands of well meaning people are taking the chance of being crippled for life with rheumatism. When a rheumatic attack occurs they seek to deaden the pain with handy relievers—a method that usually ends with disastrous results.

Every rheumatic sufferer knows that painful, swollen, inflamed joints and muscles are caused by an excess of uric acid in the blood.

When you drive this troublesome uric acid from the blood you are getting rid of the cause of rheumatism—relievers won't do this.

While you are taking the nerve deadening relievers the uric acid continues to penetrate further and further into the joints and tendons, leaving deposits so deep seated that they cannot be reached—this often means that the takers of drugs for relief only are disabled for life.

If every person who is afflicted with rheumatic manifestations would start at once to get the uric acid out of the blood—it would perhaps mean the avoidance of crippled joints in years to come.

This can be done by taking one tablespoonful of Allenru three times a day—Allenru acts on the blood and drives from it the uric acid that causes your rheumatic agony, and does it in 48 hours.

You can get a generous bottle of Allenru at McCoy Drug Co.—2 stores—or any progressive druggist for 85 cents—take it with every assurance that it is a real enemy of uric acid—and of rheumatic conditions—and bear in mind, if it doesn't do as advertised—money back. Allenru is just as good for sciatica.

Luncheon

Mrs. A. W. Griffith, Mrs. John A. Harvey, Mrs. F. C. Rowland and Mrs. Jennie Peek, comprised the hostess group yesterday at the enjoyable meeting of the Past Matrons' association of Hermosa chapter, O.E.S., held according to custom, in the blue room at Ketter's cafe.

Tables where the enjoyable lunch menu was served, were brilliant with roses, many of them from the garden of Mrs. William Strassberger, and gladioluses sent by other members. Following the menu was a business session conducted by Mrs. W. D. Finn, president, with Mrs. W. A. Atkinson leading the devotionals and reading Henry Van Dyke's beautiful "Psalm of the Helper."

Mrs. Atkinson will serve as chaplain through the coming year; Mrs. Bohlander as song leader; Mrs. Tarpley and Mrs. Mair as the calling committee; Mrs. Strassberger, Mrs. Rowland and Mrs. Hansen as the flower committee, and Mrs. Holmes and Mrs. Fannie Reeves as the entertainment committee.

START OF PLAY TOURNAMENT

Greeting old friends and making new ones among the firm adherents of the Little Theater here in the Southland, Santa Ana Community Players were dinner hosts last night in Ketter's blue room, to four Players' groups, assembled here for the opening program of the Fifth Annual tournament of One-Act Plays, opening at 8 o'clock in Ebell auditorium.

Planned in its various details by Frank Lansdown, prominent Player, treasurer of the Santa Ana association's board of directors, and tournament director, the first of the series of three dinners to be leading social phases of the current tournament, was such a friendly affair, that it augurs well for the series of courtesies which the host organization has planned for the entertainment of the guests.

Honor Guests
Miss Laura Crozier, J. Howard Miller and Lynn Neapass of the Touchstone Drama shop of U. S. C.; Carlisle Tupper, Pepl Sniff, Charles J. Long, Beauford Spencer, Ray Littleton and Karen E. Cooper of the Beverly Hills Community Players; Rudie Caffro, Jerry Dodson and Al G. Williams of the Hollywood Playcrafters, and Ruth Chessman, Ester Tower, Orval Wylie, James W. Pierce, Ralph Sherman, William McMillan and Ivan Hayden of the El Monte Community Players, were guests of honor for the evening, while sharing the pleasant dinner hour with them were many friends from the various communities, accompanying the Players to this city for the opening of the tournament.

Various Santa Ana members were present to assist Mrs. Lansdown in his plans for the evening. The scene was one of gaiety and color, for the blue room was its most attractive aspect with long tables laden with bright-hued flowers.

Judges Present
Prominent at the table where the tournament director was seated, were two of the three adjudicators, Havrah Hubbard, San Diego dramatic critic, who has served in that capacity ever since the tournament was launched as an annual affair, and Palumbo J. Ritter, dramatic critic of them and a few of those present, Mrs. Lansdown presented first, Mrs. William J. Cummings of the local Players, as the "Mother of the tournament," for the first suggestion for such a widespread annual event came from her and each year she has led in plans for the programs. Introduction of special guests also included that of Delbert E. Davenport, former editor of principal screen magazines of Hollywood, author, director and producer of various successful screen plays, and former publicity man for such stars as Mary Pickford, Douglas Fairbanks, Pola Negri, etc.

In Host Group
Of the Santa Ana Players who were present and who later attended the opening program in Ebell auditorium, those present in addition to Mrs. Lansdown and Mr. and Mrs. William Cummings, were Mr. and Mrs. M. Burr Wellington, Mr. and Mrs. Burr Shafer, Mrs. Charles A. Riggs, Mrs. Robert Northcross, Mrs. E. L. Miller, Miss Agnes Todd Miller, Earl Fraser, Mrs. Marshall Northcross, Miss Martha Whitson, Miss Lena Thomas, Mrs. Ernest Crozier Phillips, Dick Phillips, Miss Edith Cornell, Mrs. Harvey Smith, Mrs. Amelia Meagher, and Mrs. Emmett Elliott.

Laguna Beach, Escondido, Monrovia and Santa Monica Players will be special honor guests at tonight's dinner at 6 o'clock, and tomorrow night Altadena, Claremont, Van Nuys and the group from the southern coast cities, comprising the San Diego Community Players, will be complimented. Both events will be held in Ketter's blue room, and members of the host organization are expected to be present to greet the visitors.

Other Social Events
Other hostilities planned for them are the reception tomorrow afternoon from 2:30 to 5 o'clock in Ebell lounge, and the informal buffet supper served in the peacock room of the clubhouse following each night's performances. Last night the Players enjoyed this feature very much, seizing the opportunity to meet those giving the delightful series of one-acts, and congratulating them upon their work. Pretty Event of
The Week

One of the week's prettiest bridge luncheons was held Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. J. A. Crawford as hostess in her home, 938 Grand avenue. The tempting menu was served at small tables carrying out a pink and green theme. Nut cups and dainty little pastries evidenced the chosen color motif as did bouquets of spring flowers used throughout the rooms.

In the card games of the day Mrs. J. E. Prentice and Mrs. W. H. Johnson held first and second high scores. Those sharing Mrs. Crawford's hospitality were Mesdames George Derker, C. E. Smiley, Nell Granger, Jerome Westfall, W. O. Higgins, C. O. Powell, Mira Hendricks, Albert Leech and W. H. Johnson of Orange, and Mesdames F. M. Anderson, George Richardson, Frank Vetch, Paul Carnahan, John Gould, J. E. Prentice and Fred Kettering.

Comus Club Members
Entertained at Dinner Dance

One of the most enjoyable in a long series of Comus club dinners, was shared last night by approximately 100 members and guests of that social group, who were entertained in the Orange American Legion clubhouse by a host group composed of Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Andrews Jr., Dr. and Mrs. Hubert B. Nall and Mr. and Mrs. Henry S. Williams.

The three young matrons had planned the attractive decorative effect of the dinner interval, using Cecil Bruner buds to embellish the tables where guests were seated in friendly small groups to enjoy the chicken menu. Men of the host group had arranged for the music, providing a remarkably fine orchestra from Wilmington, the Shirley orchestra of 10 pieces. In greeting their guests, Mrs. Andrews wore a charming gown in pale pink lace, Mrs. Williams was in apple green satin, and Mrs. Nall wore white lace over green. Back were a corsage bouquet of fragrant gardenias.

Details Are Revealed
Of Romantic March
Nuptials

In the modest little Episcopal church in the romantic mining town of Sonora, Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Sloan were married 39 years ago, and in the same setting their daughter, Miss Claire Sloan, and William Thomas Kirven Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Kirven, of Garden Grove, were married Tuesday, March 21. Announcement of the marriage was made this week at informal affairs given by Mrs. Kirven and her daughter, Miss Cynthia Kirven.

Having returned from their honeymoon in northern California, Mr. and Mrs. Kirven are established in their home at 923 West Broadway in Anaheim, where Mr. Kirven is employed with the Association Laboratories. He is well known in Orange county, having attended Santa Ana schools since kindergarten days, and graduating a few years ago from the local high school.

Bridal Tea
The most recent of the week's affairs honoring the new Mrs. Kirven was given yesterday by Mrs. W. T. Kirven in her ranch home near Garden Grove. The affair was in the nature of a most delightful "pink tea," and all appointments suggested that idea. Pink tapers rose from crystal candleholders to cast their soft glow on the bouquets of spring flowers arranged throughout the rooms. From 3 to 5 o'clock friends of the family were given an opportunity to meet the young bride. Dainty sandwiches and little cakes were served with tea. Miss Minnie Terrell of Villa Park, who has known Mr. and Mrs. Kirven for years, having first made their acquaintance in Texas, presided at the tea urn.

Those present, other than the honoree, Mrs. Kirven Jr., were Mesdames Sam Hill, J. S. Hill, C. S. Palmer, C. Hinton, H. J. Bradford, Albert Dresser, Fred Stillings and Miss Linda Paul of this city, and Mesdames C. W. Magnusson, J. O. Arklie, J. A. Knapp, Ernest Wakeham, E. H. Darling, L. L. Trickey, W. B. Merchant, Edward Chaffee, Ralph Chaffee, W. M. Kelsey, and Claude Henderson, all of Garden Grove, and the hostess, Mrs. Kirven, and Miss Terrell.

Evening of Bridge
The first of the affairs in the Junior Mrs. Kirven's honor was given by Miss Cynthia Kirven, when she entertained in the home of her parents in Garden Grove. Three tables of bridge were in session, and throughout the evening a refreshing green motif was used. Crystal candle holders bearing slender green tapers added much to the decorative effect. The same color scheme was in evidence during the refreshment hour.

It was regretted that Miss Katherine Kirven, a sister to the hostess, was unable to attend either of the affairs given for her new sister-in-law. As a student at Zoellner's Conservatory of Music in Los Angeles her spring studies are such that she cannot leave the city at present. She is a former student of Santa Ana Junior college.

Guests bidden to the Kirven home to meet the charming young bride were Mrs. Geoffrey Wilde, Mrs. Robert Weeks, Mrs. Delbert Wilkinson, Miss Gertrude Jentes, Mrs. Melvin Rosenbaum, of this city; Mrs. Sam Walker, Mrs. Dolph Kelsey and Mrs. A. T. Wilson, of Anaheim; Mrs. J. O. Smith and Miss Martha Kelsey of Garden Grove.

VLADIMIR LENSKI

Noted Violin Artist
To Present B. P. W.
Program

Monday, April 20, will be celebrated as "guest day" by Business and Professional Women's club members, and a musical program of much interest to be presented by the April entertainment committee, with Vladimir Lenski, well-known violin virtuoso, as guest artist.

Because of the superior acoustics of Ketter's blue room, and because of the large crowd of members and guests expected, the luncheon meeting will be held there rather than in the usual meeting place of the club in the gold room.

Miss Alma Sweet, chairman of the committee, will present the artist, who has promised such numbers as "Appassionata" by Vieuxtemps; "The Rosary," by Nevin-Kreiser, and "Mazurka" by Musin. Vladimir Lenski is no stranger to Santa Ana audiences, although this will be his first appearance before the Business and Professional Women. He conducts classes at his Los Angeles studio, but finds time for a certain amount of concert distinct favor that he consented to appear on one of their mid-day programs.

German Club Members
To Attend U. C. L. A.
Program

Displaying an added interest in German literature and music, members of the Santa Ana junior college German club met last night and made plans to attend Hoffmannthal's "Jedermann" to be presented by students at the University of California at Los Angeles, Saturday night.

The meeting was in the form of a dinner served in the model apartments of the college. Esther Romoff and Miss Margery Adams planned the menu and secured the appropriate German foods from various German and Dutch homes of Santa Ana and Anaheim. Everything was characteristic of Germany and was complete from sauerkraut to pretzels. Miss Adams provided beautiful wild flowers in sunny yellow tones for decorations.

Simon Toelle, president of the club and chairman of arrangements for the successful meeting, presided over the program. After the dinner, a contest of divided provverbs between the young women and young men of the club was held with Miss Tella Watson, club advisor, declared victor.

The rest of the program consisted of anecdotes, fables and little skits featuring Miss Esther Cockerham, Louis Rales, Miss Lillian Newmann, Clayton Kaps, Howard Randall, John Smith and Carl Schoeneberg.

Another enjoyable part of the program was the review by Miss Watson of the pageant to be given by the U. C. L. A. students.

The advisor, who has traveled extensively in Europe and is very familiar with the presentation, recited portions of the play and explained in modern German many of the archaic expressions which Hoffmannthal uses. The pageant is given yearly in the old cathedral city of Salzburg in Germany. The Los Angeles performance is being given by the students, assisted by the faculties of the German, music and drama departments.

Members of the club who will attend the performance are the Misses Marion Parsons, Elizabeth Riniker, Marie McGinnis and Lucille Reich, accompanied by Miss Watson, advisor, Mr. and Mrs. John Teasman and Miss Aurelia Koth.

Members of the club who enjoyed the dinner and program last night were the Misses Genevieve Glenn, Esther Cockerham, Lillian Neumann, May Hansenjaeger, Esther Romoff, Margery Adams, Florence Resnick, Marion Parsons, Lella Watson and the Messrs. Clayton Kaps, Simon Toelle, Jack Gould, Lewis Bates, Howard Randall, Carl Schoeneberg, Theodore Groenow and John Smith.

Joining in entertaining in honor of their sister, Mrs. Howard Merrill, who prior to her marriage in February was Miss Georgie Allen, were Mrs. John Woolomes and Mrs. E. L. Wilcox were hostesses recently, giving the affair in the latter's home, 925 Kilson drive.

Bridge was the game of the evening, with Mrs. Edward L. Ellis scoring high and receiving an attractive piece of costume jewelry. For scoring second high, Mrs. Leavitt Daley was given a silk handkerchief case. Refreshments were carried out in delicate tins of pink and deep rose, and guests were seated at one long table centered with a bride and bridegroom. Nut cups and favors were in pink.

The climax of the evening came when the honoree was presented with an array of miscellaneous gifts. It was just last fall that one of the hostesses, Mrs. Woolomes, was married. She will be remembered as Miss Ruth Allender.

Those present, other than the honoree, Mrs. Merrill, were Mesdames Leavitt Daley, Lloyd Miller, J. B. Merrill, Jean Gleason, Charles Frazier, George Boyd, Darwin Scott, S. W. Allender, G. T. Allender, Edward L. Ellis and the hostesses, Mrs. Woolomes and Mrs. Wilcox.

Young People Gather
For Celebration Of Natal Day

The birthday anniversary on Wednesday of Leonard Eyerly, was incentive for a delightful evening party given by Miss Louise Bach, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Bach, in her home at 831 South Main street.

Adopting a color scheme of pink and tones of green, the young hostess planned a most attractive floral effect for her hospitality, using quantities of Cecyl Bruner buds and other delicate-hued blossoms. Tables were arranged for cards, 500 leading in popularity although other games were introduced during the evening hours.

A delicious refreshment course, for which the card tables were made inviting with their pretty linens and flower centerpieces, was served at a late hour, with a pink-iced birthday cake glittering with pale green candles, given prominent place.

A number of handsome gifts were presented Mr. Eyerly in honor of the anniversary, by the assembled guests who included in addition to Miss Bach, the Misses Grace Elliott, Pauline Graham, Evelyn Chandler, Virginia Roberts, and Mrs. Frank Hoover of this city; Miss Gertrude McConnell of Long Beach, Miss Thelma Guntz of Fullerton, and Messrs. Adrian Lentz, Euthys Abernathy, Frank Hoover, Jim Becker, Harold Hillers, Floyd Klingenberg and Ray Cole.

Bridge Club Hostess
Presents Pretty
Luncheon

Entertaining the members of her bridge club, Mrs. Ralph Pinkham was hostess Wednesday at an attractively appointed luncheon, and afternoon cards in her home, 819 North Flower street. Combining a charming color combination of pink and yellow in her decorative scheme, the hostess made her tables attractive with flowers in those colors, together with other luncheon appointments.

At the conclusion of the three-course menu, Miss Lucile Francis gave a short talk on "Styling of Salads," exemplifying the refreshing salad course which she had prepared to conform to the plans of the hostess. Covers were laid for Mesdames E. O. Fulson, W. A. Wheeler, A. B. Wentz and W. J. E. Newsom, of Garden Grove; C. B. Scott of Artesia; H. A. Hatch and George Richardson of this city.

Bridge followed in the afternoon hours, with appropriate prizes awarded the holders of special scores.

Members of the club who enjoyed the dinner and program last night were the Misses Genevieve Glenn, Esther Cockerham, Lillian Neumann, May Hansenjaeger, Esther Romoff, Margery Adams, Florence Resnick, Marion Parsons, Lella Watson and the Messrs. Suggestion For Luncheon or Supper

Here is a suggestion for supper luncheon menu which you are sure to like: Creamed oysters, creamed tuna, crab meat, crab and rump, or creamed chicken and oen peas, made delicious "loaves," are doubly good when served in individual loaves. Just get some of these big puffy rolls, used for making "hot dog" or hamburger sandwiches at the beach. Cut a thin lid from the top and with a fork scoop out all of the crumbs, leaving the crusty walls to form a receptacle for the creamed filling. Put these loaves into a hot oven and let them brown, brush with melted butter, fill with the creamed mixture, and serve with the toasted lid and rump piping hot.

Made of oysters they are perfect—sum 'shus! There is a little trick in making the oyster filling however, and it lies in plumping the oysters before combining them with a cream sauce. This is done by shelling oysters (any large kind), and dropping them into a small amount of boiling water. Stir gently till the edges begin to ruffle, then drain into a sieve to drain. (Save the broth and serve it with whipped cream for delicious oyster oth.) Cut the big oysters in small pieces and fold them into a well oiled cream sauce.

This sauce I like best when made with cornstarch for thickening. plenty of butter, salt, pepper and minced parsley for seasoning, and at least 30 minutes cooking over hot water. A quart of "solid pack" oysters will serve ten people if you make a generous quart of the cream sauce.

For months when oysters are taboo, try diced chicken in cream sauce with new green peas. Tomorrow, I am going to tell you how I froze a lemon pie for a special dessert and how good it was!

JOHNSON AND OLSEN ENACT COMEDY HERE

Continuous applause greeted "Fifty Million Frenchmen," the Warner Bros. comedy romance last night at the Fox Broadway theater.

"Fifty Million Frenchmen" is a brilliant, natural color screen version of the play which captured Broadway last season. Many of the same people that appeared on the stage are seen in the picturization. William Gaxton again portrays the role of Jack Forbes, the young American millionaire who wagers with his two friends, Cummings and Baxter, that within two weeks he can woo and wed the pretty girl he has merely glimpsed but never met, and all without a cent in his pocket. Helen Browder again plays Violet, the strong-minded American tourist who throws so many monkey wrenches in the machinery.

The lady all the fuss is about is bewitchingly played by beautiful Claudia Dell. Nat Carr and Vera Gordon make much of their clever Jewish dialect as tourists in Paris. Carmelita Geraghty is good as an excitable mamselle, and Charles Judels is his Frenchiest as M. Bernasque.

But the bagful of monkeys is that outlandish team of clowns, Olsen and Johnson, who enact the pussypoofing sleuths that pursue everybody, catch nobody, but cause tremendous laughter in the doing of it.

Sons of Veterans

Sons of Union Veterans of the Civil War were honored at their regular meeting Tuesday evening in Knights of Pythias hall by having as their guests, four comrades of G. A. R. Post No. 17. They were Commander J. H. Brown; George D. Campbell, junior vice commander; Daniel Holbrook, officer of the day, and Hiram Cleveland.

Other special guests were Eugene C. Somerby, department commander, and his staff, who paid their official visit.

This was inspection night, roll call of officers found all present except the outside guard. Two new members were taken in, and of these one was a great grandson of a Civil War veteran. The camp was pleased that Commander S. L. Carpenter was able to be present following an absence of several weeks due to an operation. He presided over part of the meeting.

Mrs. Estella L. Gray presided at the piano during the evening. Several visitors were present from the Daughters of Civil War Veterans and Woman's Relief Corps, as well as Martha E. McDaniel, president of the Orange tent and Florence Ober, her guide. Others present were Mrs. J. M. Brown, president of Sedgwick Relief corps and Mrs. Lena G. Hewitt, president of Sarah A. Rounds tent, Daughters of Union Veterans. Several were called on for short talks, and Commander J. H. Brown responded in a pleasing manner, as did Comrade Holbrook. Mrs. McDaniel, Mrs. Brown and Mrs. Hewitt also responded with a few appropriate words.

Following the business session the group adjourned to the dining room where refreshments prepared by the wives of the Sons were served. The Cozad Drum corps gave several musical numbers. Members are keenly anticipating the department convention which will meet in Sacramento during the week of May 10.

MANY STARS IN NEW DAVIES PICTURE

Marion Davies surrounded herself with a cast of Broadway celebrities in the supporting parts of "It's a Wise Child," which will begin its local engagement Saturday at the Fox West Coast theater.

Prominent on the list of supporting players are Sidney Blackmer, who temporarily gave up the stage to appear in "The Bad Man," James Gleason, identified with such Broadway stage hits as "The Shannons of Broadway" and "Is Zat So?" and Lester Vail, who has scored in a long string of footlight productions.

Polly Moran and Marie Prevost have character roles of widely different natures. Clara Blandick, Robert McWade, Johnny Arthur, Hilda Vaughn, Ben Alexander, and Emily Fitzroy are the remaining members of the imposing cast.

"ONLY THE BRAVE" AT WALKER STATE

The romantic and glamorous crinoline days of the old South form the temporal background of Gary Cooper's newest starring picture, "Only the Brave," which will be seen and heard at Walker's State tonight and Saturday.

Cooper is cast as a daring captain of cavalry in this adventure-romance of the war-torn days when Grant and Lee were saying it with cannon and troops. He volunteers as a spy on a desperate errand behind the lines of battle action. In fulfilling his dangerous mission he meets Mary Brian, fashionable Virginia girl, and falls in love with her.

The "fan-shell," a fish nearly two feet long, in some wonderful manner can snap its two halves together in a flash to entrap any wandering fish.

CRAZY

Olsen and Johnson, the comedy team that makes "Fifty Million Frenchmen," now playing at the Fox Broadway theater one of the best laugh hits of the year.

"DOCTOR'S WIVES" CLOSES RUN TODAY

Should a young girl, married to a doctor worry about his women patients?

This is the question and the answer is to be seen at the Fox West Coast theater today for the last time, when "Doctor's Wives," starring Warner Baxter and Joan Bennett play for the last times.

Joan, as the wife, does worry and her worry makes her do many things she regrets later, but the entire plot will give an insight into the lives of doctor's wives that many persons have never thought of before. The show is good entertainment and the dialogue is particularly good.

Class To Give Skit In Church

The cast is as follows: Maggie, Kiyoko; Edith Hardy, Frances Berry; Bob Drummond, Wilford Preeson; Dick Dolorton, Bob Nichols; Sylvia Bird, Catherine Melton; Miss Bird, Bertha Hodgson.

WILLIAM HAINES TO SHOW FOR KIDDIES

Members of the Santa Ana Mickey Mouse club will be given a real treat tomorrow in the form of movie entertainment. It was learned today with the announcement that the picture would be "Speedway," the great William Haines action film.

"Speedway" is one of the best pictures that Haines has ever appeared in and his dry humor, together with his daring race at the end of the film should be a hit with the children. The show starts at 1 p.m.

THE WEEKLY PANTRY SHELF

LAGUNA HOLDS SCHOOLS WEEK PROGRAM SOON

LAGUNA BEACH, April 17.—Public schools week will be observed by Laguna Beach lodge No. 672, F. and A. M., other Masons in the vicinity and citizens generally, April 21 at the school auditorium with a program and address appropriate to the occasion.

Mayor J. E. Bishop has issued a proclamation designating the coming week as Public Schools week, and the Masons, in accordance with a custom followed for many years, are making a special event of Tuesday evening, foregoing any lodge meeting that might be set for that date here.

G. Robert Parker, master of the local lodge, has urged that every Mason attend. Mrs. J. Orville Chilton, worthy matron of Laguna Beach chapter No. 521, Order of Eastern Star, who is also instructor in singing in the Laguna school, will offer a program of the school orchestra, Boys' Glee club, Girls' Glee club and community singing.

Michael Arlen, the famous English novelist, once destroyed a manuscript of a novel representing a year of work. He simply didn't like the result.

TALBERT

TALBERT, April 17.—Mrs. Mary Hoffman and Mrs. Harvey Warner spent Thursday at Huntington Beach as the guests of Mrs. I. C. Warner, daughter of Mrs. Hoffman and sister-in-law of Mrs. Warner.

Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Hoepfner and children are spending Sunday in Pasadena as guests of Mrs. Hoepfner's mother, who is giving a dinner party in honor of Mrs. Hoepfner, who is celebrating her birthday anniversary.

Mrs. L. J. Bushard is a patient at St. Joseph's hospital, where on Wednesday morning she had three minor operations performed.

Miss Rose Bushard, who spent last week's vacation at her home from U. C. L. A., returned to Westwood Sunday.

Mrs. Anna Helm and Mrs. Nay Clayton, members of the Talbert-Greenville missionary society, motored to Los Angeles Tuesday, taking the garments which are the gift of the local society to the Homer Toberman mission.

The missionary prayer meeting of the week is being held this evening at the Talbert parsonage with the Rev. and Mrs. O. E. Laird.

The Misses Kathleen and Blanche Helm and Miss Eckdal, school nurse, returned Saturday from Trona, where they spent their spring vacation as the guests of Mrs. Thornleyka, former local teacher, who resides at that place.

The Rev. and Mrs. O. E. Laird and son, O. E. Laird Jr., returned Saturday from Los Angeles, where they spent several days with relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Ted Bushard and family spent Easter Sunday with Mrs. Bushard's relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lacabanne spent Sunday at Haves park, where they were joined on the outing by Mrs. Lacabanne's sisters and their families, Mr. and Mrs. P. Lacabanne and sons and daughter and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Landin and son of Los Angeles. Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lacabanne also entertained as recent evening guests in their home Mr. and Mrs. Herman Lempe of Olive.

Jacqueline Robb, young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robb of the Helm tract, who has been ill with measles for several days, is improved. Donald Robb is also confined at home with the same disease.

Mr. and Mrs. John Pettitt of Whittier and Mrs. Betty Carter, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Carter and children of Long Beach were Sunday visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Talbert. Jake Shrode, brother of Mrs. M. L. Thurman, has been spending a few days visiting with Mrs. Thurman at the Talbert home and with Mr. and Mrs. Ben Rogers and family, going from here to Bolsa to the home of his son, John Shrode. Henry Talbert was a dinner guest Tuesday of his brother, Sam Talbert.

Two trucks are employed filling in the Talbert drainage ditch district right of way along Bushard street, the natural sinking of the first fill making the additional work necessary.

Mrs. J. H. Cox is entertaining as her house guest her sister, who is from Los Angeles.

Donald Harper, who is completing his modern stucco garage and service station at the intersection of Talbert boulevard and Bushard street, has had to put in a complete new outfit on the well on his premises, large motor, pump and all being installed.

Mrs. Mary V. Bushard and Joseph Kagerer of Los Angeles were entertained at dinner Wednesday by Mr. and Mrs. George Bushard and family.

Representatives were in Talbert Wednesday testing wells and reported that there had been no fall in the water level for the past four days. The Brewer well at the corner of Talbert boulevard and Bushard street, which has been tested each day for many weeks, stands at a depth of 30 feet. Practically every pump in the district has been lowered.

The second quarterly conference of the year was held Sunday morning at the Talbert Methodist church, South, for the churches of the circuit, the Greenville and Talbert churches, with Dr. Emmons of Los Angeles, presiding elder of the district, present. Dr. Emmons preached at the morning service hour and was present for the Easter Sunday school program which occupied the Sunday school hour.

Children of the Talbert Sunday school presented the special features, which included, among others, instrumental duets by Juanita and Louie Penrod, vocal numbers by Violet Rogers and Louie Penrod, with Juanita Penrod as accompanist; recitations by the Wardlow children and Violet Rogers and a vocal duet by Mrs. Nay Clayton and Mrs. S. E. Talbert.

Observing the first birthday anniversary of her twin daughters, Jean and Joan Gisler, Mrs. Tom Gisler on Wednesday afternoon entertained with a party in their honor. The refreshment table was lovely in a color scheme of pink and white and two tiny "merry-go-round" cakes, circled by animal crackers gay with their icings, were lovely table ornaments. The clever cakes were the work of Miss Fay Bushard.

Attending the party were Mrs. Robert Gisler, Louis Gisler, Betty Gisler, Mrs. Henry Hodges and son, Henry Hodges Jr., Mrs. Clyde Asher and son, Jimmy Asher, of Santa Ana; Mrs. Bernard Stoffle and son, Bernard, of Anaheim; Miss Fay Bushard, the honor guests, Jean and Joan Gisler, and Mrs. Tom Gisler.

HONEY ON BERRIES

You will be surprised how much a little orange blossom honey will improve their flavor. Also a person who cannot eat strawberries with sugar will often find they can eat them with honey due to its not causing fermentation.

HONEY TEA COOKIES

Melt over fire one-half cup butter and stir into one pound of honey and about one-half of a small nutmeg grated and the grated rind of two small lemons. Stir all together while over the fire, until well mixed, then let cool, place in refrigerator for 14 hours. Add enough flour to make a soft dough, about two cups will be about right with baking powder added in the proportion of a single teaspoonful to a cup of flour. Roll lightly to one-fourth inch thick, cut in squares, triangles, or round, sprinkle tops with chopped almonds and bake at 400 degrees Fahrenheit until done. Serve cold with tea or supper. These little cakes keep for ages if stored in a covered box.

HONEY ALMOND FINGERS

Cream together 1/2 cupful butter and 1/2 cupful honey. Add 2 beaten egg yolks, 1 1/4 cupful pastry flour, 1-1-2 cupful finely chopped almonds. Mix thoroughly. Shape the dough into rolls about 3 inches long and as thick as a finger. Brush with honey and bake at 400 deg. F. about 15 minutes.

SOFT HONEY CAKE

Cream 1/2 cupful of butter with 1 cupful of honey (strained) until well blended. Sift together 2 cupfuls of flour, 1 teaspoonful of soda, 1/2 teaspoonful of ginger, 1/2 teaspoonful of cinnamon and 1/2 teaspoonful of salt. Beat an egg well and add to the honey mixture, then part of the sifted dry ingredients. Add 1/2 cupful of sour milk and the remainder of the dry ingredients. Beat hard and pour into layer cake tins. Bake from 30 to 35 minutes in a moderately hot oven. This cake improves in flavor if kept in a tin box.

WASHINGTON MKT.

MAIN AT WASHINGTON

Mrs. George W. Larson, winner of 9 prize awards at the 1930 Minnesota State Fair, carried off the "Sweetest" must be made of all prize, with her Certo-made jams and jellies. She says, "Certo saved me money too!"

Make your strawberry jam this week. Use the money saving short-boil way now followed by 4,000,000 jam and jelly makers. Saves 2 1/2¢ on every glass. Saves 2/3 of your time. Eliminates expensive failures. No other method like it.

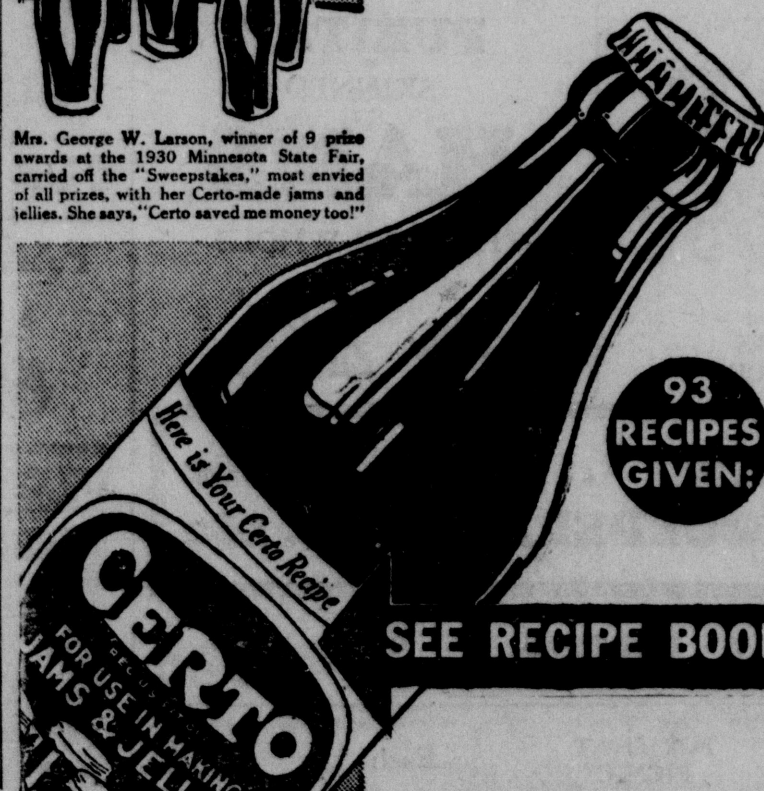

JELLYMAKERS: No longer need you boil away costly fruit juices! Now you can turn every last bit into luscious strawberry jam or clear, sparkling jelly! When you follow the Certo short-boil way, only 1 minute's boiling is required, and hence no fruit juice boils away in steam. You usually get 50% more glasses. Including the cost of fruit, sugar and Certo, you often save 2 1/2 cents per glass. More than that, if you follow directions, you take no chance of failure. Your jam will come out full flavored, colorful and with a daintier texture than you've ever known before.

Now please remember! Only through the use of Certo and the Certo recipes can you follow this short-boil method of jam-making. So order a bottle today. 4,000,000 women, among them many State Fair jelly champions, swear by it.

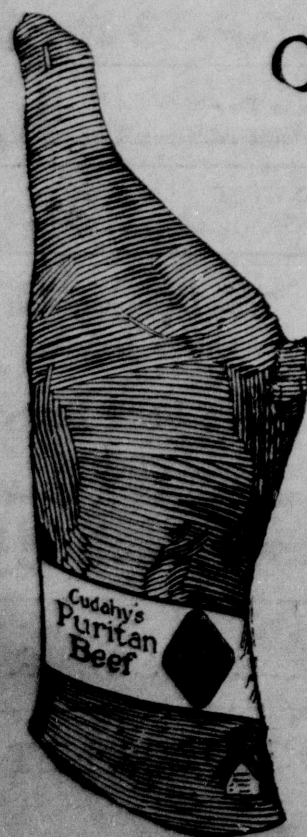

Put up strawberry jam . . and lots of it. Put up strawberry jelly, too. With Certo it is easy. Certo is a pure fruit product—a concentrated fruit pectin. And pectin, you know, is the substance which makes jelly "jell." Certo is a product of General Foods Corporation. It is sold by your grocer.

Under the Certo label you will find 93 recipes. Each has been carefully worked out for use with Certo. Please remember that in making jam and jelly every fruit is different. No one recipe can be made to fit them all. That is why we developed definite scientific recipes for each fruit. These recipes are your guarantee of perfect jams and jellies with any fruit you use.

NEW BOOKS IN PUBLIC LIBRARY

By VERA RAMSEY

Nearly all of us have been affected in some manner by the period of depression through which we are passing. We hear much fruitless discussion of causes and results. If we could really understand the factors which accompany this phenomenon, we might at least guard the future.

"Hard Times—The Way In and the Way Out" by Richard T. Ely is the picture of the seen and unseen causes of hard times. What are usually thought of by the average citizen as the seen causes of hard times are frequently, either in part or in whole, the effects of oncoming hard times. Many are inclined to point to the crash in the stock market as one of the causes, when it is actually the result of unseen forces that have been working for several years in advance of the crash. The author points out the effects of such unseen forces as the misuse of lands and a misunderstanding of their values; the maladjustment in industry; and certain forms of expansion which are not in step with the natural progress of business.

Following his clear-cut description of the way into hard times, the author emphasizes the need for scientific research as the first step in the way out, and shows that when the facts are known they become the compass by which business can lay its course for the future. Dr. Ely also takes up the question of unemployment and suggests a plan for furnishing work and assistance to those temporarily out of employment during such periods of depression as the present. The material in this discussion is both interesting and valuable.

With the arrival of soft, balmy spring days, our thoughts turn to flowers and flower growing. Every spare inch of ground is adorned with its offering toward a lovely spectacle. There are, however, many city dwellers who have very little extra space. The art of indoor gardening is coming more and more into general favor.

In "Adventures in Dish Gardening" by Patten Beard, we are given a western interpretation of the old Japanese art of dish gardening. It is a new craft here in America, but one that is becoming most popular for interior decoration where growing plants are used.

Everyone should make a dish garden. It requires practically no care. It keeps fresh looking like a living garden. It brings nature close to those who are denied intimate contact with it and gives all the amusement of gardening to those who may have no gardens. With it nature can be enjoyed close at hand in the form of miniature dish pictures of growing plants in real little scenes of brookside or stream, river or glen, seashore or mountain. The pictures in this book of charming examples of dish gardens make us eager to try our hand at this fascinating art.

To nature lovers, gardeners, garden club members, home decorators, as well as shut-ins, playground and school instructors and those interested in craft work, this book opens up an entirely new field of interest in indoor gardening and decoration.

Kodiak grizzlies, moose, giant walrus, medicine men, Eskimos and the mysterious stone age mummies of the far north pass in swift and exciting review across the pages of "God's Frozen Children" by Harold McCracken.

Here is the story of the S. S. "Dirty Dora," the toughest boat that ever sailed Alaskan waters. It is also the story of the 20-year-old explorer who spent his funds climbing an unexplored mountain and the next few months collecting animals with a capital of nothing at all. There are many exciting incidents in connection with this trip. X. B. Jones traced his wife's behavior with a wad of chewing gum and got murdered for his pains. There is the mysterious touch of the violin that fell apart the night a man died. We meet the largest flesh-eating animals left on earth. The Eat Everything Club did balk at an eagle. We are conducted to the strange Diomed Islands, the outposts of Asia and America, where the two continents are only two miles apart, and stone soldiers guard Asia from conquests of the west. Finally there is the island "square like white man's box, and north wind cut it through" where in an elaborate primitive sarcophagus lay the Tutankhamen of the Arctic—the mummy of a great chief, surrounded by the bodies of his retainers—mute evidence of a civilization now altogether lost to the world.

High adventure, the authentic thrill of exploration in the face of peril mark every page. Men, animals, mummies—here is a kaleidoscopic panorama of Arctic life and an important contribution to the literature of discovery.

OCEANVIEW

OCEANVIEW, April 17.—A group of 32 women visited a store in Long Beach Tuesday as representatives of the Oceanview P. T. A. The group included the following local women: Mrs. William Chapman, Mrs. Williams, Mrs. McKenzie, Mrs. Clinton Brush, Mrs. Peters, Mrs. Gilmore, Mrs. John Murdy, Mrs. Vernon Hill, Mrs. Minnie Allen, Mrs. Armand Hill, Mrs. George Harding, Mrs. Charles Schluth, Mrs. T. J. Holt, Mrs. J. N. Holt, Mrs. Daisy Fox, Mrs. R. A. Shostag, Mrs. W. P. Treese, Mrs. Blanche Taylor, Mrs. Phillips, Mrs. Colburn.

The regular P. T. A. study circle met Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. Vernon Hill at her home on Huntington Beach boulevard. The subject "Hereditry and Environment" was taken up, with Mrs. Guy Stine as study leader.

The absence of Mrs. C. E. Gilmore, president of the P. T. A., was regretted and sympathy was expressed for her confinement, the result of injuries sustained Tuesday evening in an automobile accident in Santa Ana. Mrs. Gilmore's injuries are not so serious, but are very painful.

Intensive work on citizenship points is being done by members of the class of 21 boys and girls of the Oceanview eighth grade as the result of the offer of a bronze medal to be presented to the boy and to the girl of the class who stand highest in this at the close of the school term.

Three of the Huntington Beach

American Legion members, Messrs. Gray, Benningdorf and Mitchell, visited the school in the interest of the contest, presenting the five necessary features of the contest to be considered, each of which will count for 20 per cent of the 100 per cent which constitutes the perfect mark.

Work on the commencement program for the June graduating class is to begin soon, the class play to be chosen at once.

Nomination of officers for the Oceanview Parent-Teacher association is to be held at the executive board meeting of the P. T. A. next Wednesday afternoon.

MILLIONS PREFER KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN

MILLIONS of satisfied users have made this famous Kellogg product the largest-selling all-bran cereal in the world. It guarantees relief from both temporary and recurring constipation.

How much better than pills and drugs. For most laxatives have to be taken in constantly increasing doses. Otherwise, they lose their power.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN provides the natural, safe way to protect health. It supplies roughage to sweep poisonous wastes from the system. And it brings iron, which builds up the blood.

Just eat two tablespoonfuls daily. In severe cases, with each meal. Try ALL-BRAN with milk or cream, fruits or honey added. Use it in cooking. Recipes on the red-and-green package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Kellogg's
ALL-BRAN

Mr. and Mrs. George Fysden entertained as guests for several days, Mrs. Fysden's aunt, Mrs. Newcomb, of the Bible Institute, in their home.

Mrs. Stella Farnsworth called on Mrs. William Stennett and Mrs. Earl Smith, who have been very ill at their homes for some weeks. Both Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Stennett are now able to sit up a part of the time.

Miss Hill and Miss Haas of the Bolsa school faculty were in Pasadena for the week and visiting in their respective homes.

Miss Lucille Radford spent the week end in Long Beach, where she was entertained as the guest of a friend, Miss Dorothy Durkee, who has just returned from the north.

Mr. and Mrs. George Harding and children were entertained at Sunday luncheon guests by Mr. and Mrs. David Holsclaw, of Smelter, and the two families spent the afternoon at the beach.

Dorothy Gardner has been out of school for several days, being ill at her home with a severe attack of tonsillitis.

WINTERSBURG

WINTERSBURG, April 17.—Plans for a new Sunday school building for the Wintersburg Methodist church property were discussed at an executive board meeting of the church and Sunday school held Monday evening at the church. No definite plans were made but as additional room for the classes is in demand, there being 46 at present in Mrs. Sherman Buck's department of lower classes, with 22 children in one class, the time for action seems to have arrived, according to board members.

"God Speaking to Us Through the Arts" was the interesting topic used at the Queen Esther meeting held Tuesday evening at the Wintersburg church hall. Mrs. M. A. Matson, superintendent of the Queen Esther group, illustrated the subject through pictures. The Misses Betty Burdette and Ophelia Frost recited poems and Miss June Slater illustrated by musical numbers.

It was voted by the Queen Esther that the next meeting night, the second Tuesday in May, would be mother and daughter night and a play is being arranged for the evening. Here will be candle lighting service.

Miss Phyllis Bradbury and Miss Marian Clemens were hostesses of the event, which was held at Junior hall and refreshments were served by them at the conclusion of the meeting. Those present were Phyllis and Maxine Bradbury, Thelma Dalley, Beth Burdette, Marian Clemens, Marjorie Crowling, Orpha DeBusk, Mrs. Frost, Bonnell Fox, Mrs. Matson, Margaretie Petch, Isabelle Russell, Verbal Russell, June Slater, Ruth Simon, Velma Wentzel, Ruth Wright.

The Missionary society and Ladies' Aid will vote next week on the subject of holding both meetings the same day, one in the morning and one in the afternoon. The missionary meeting will be held Tuesday at the church hall and an interesting program is expected, with Mrs. W. A. Matson in charge. The leader will give facts concerning the Benevolent of Kentucky, which is for children of the mountain section and of Sneed seminary in Alabama at both of which she has taught. The Ladies' Aid meets on Thursday afternoon at the church hall.

Mrs. E. M. Fox was hostess Tuesday afternoon at one of the series of missionary teas which members of the society are giving. Next week's tea will be omitted and Mrs. David Russell will entertain in two weeks.

There were nine women present at the home of Mrs. Fox, these including Mrs. C. E. Pratt, Mrs. E. Ray Moore, Mrs. Albert Ruff, Mrs. G. M. Roberson, Mrs. Max Cowling, Mrs. W. A. Matson, Mrs. J. R. Gary, Mrs. David Russell, Mrs. Fox.

Church services at the local Methodist church were dismissed at 11:30 o'clock on Sunday morning in accordance with the new ruling of Sunday school and church which combines the opening and closing exercises in an effort to make it possible for more people to attend both sessions. This was the first trial of the new order and was generally commended by the congregation.

Eight new members were taken into the church Sunday morning, four adults and four children, becoming affiliated with the organization.

Victor Southern is confined to his home with first degree burns, which were sustained while he was burning weeds at his home. Southern was using gasoline to ignite the weeds and accidentally spilled some which ignited, burning one arm and one leg badly. Dr. Bert Hardy is in daily attendance.

Miss Eva Preston, Frederick McIntosh, Dean Pryor and John Pryor were of the group of scholarship students and Mrs. R. L. Hilliard and daughter, Virginia, and son, Wilton Hilliard, attended the ball game played at Compton by the Santa Ana Junior college team, of which Wilfred Hilliard is pitcher. From Compton the family motored on to Redondo, where they visited Mrs. Hilliard's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward.

Mrs. Harold Stafford entertained a group of friends at her home on the event of the first anniversary of her daughter, Geraldine Marie. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Stafford and a pleasant afternoon spent by the guest group.

Mrs. Dave Gardner and Mrs. W. F. Slater attended the elementary school track meet at Huntington Beach Tuesday.

Mrs. Ethel Sebastian visited Miss Johnson Sunday and in the evening motored to Los Angeles in company with her brother, Edwin Gohard, to see her young daughter, June Sebastian, who is visiting relatives there.

The exterior of the residence of William McGuffin in Wintersburg is being repainted this week.

Local members of the Eastern Star attended the elaborate lodge which was given Thursday

THE MAN WITH THE SPIRIT

Most successful institutions are successful because they are the expression of the personality that guides, directs, plans the life of the institution. Riverside Church, New York City, is the expression of the spirit and dreams of Harry Emerson Fosdick. Chicago University still proclaims the personality of President Harper and now is responding to the new dynamic of President Hutchins' inspiring leadership. So with every active, living institution, whether it be commercial, educational, religious or philanthropic. One cannot think of Hull House, Chicago, without thinking of Jane Addams.

The Young Men's Christian Association of Santa Ana is a local example of this fact. We are celebrating the seventh anniversary of the Association in its present building. We are proud of what this institution has accomplished in these seven years. It has been a Y. M. C. A. "that is different." It has dared to pioneer. It has not hesitated to cut loose from the conventional Association methods and try something that might fit in better with local needs. Making membership in the boys' department free is an outstanding example of this pioneering. The Toastmasters' Club is another successful bit of Association adventuring.

The Santa Ana Association is what it is because of Ralph C. Smedley, its general secretary. His brain, his spirit, his personality have guided the institution from the first. The building itself is a monument to his experience and judgment. He came first as a "Building Secretary." He worked with the architect in developing the plans. He was on the job constantly during the construction. Then when the building was completed he turned to the task of developing the organization that was to use the building. The record of these seven years tell how well he has labored.

Mr. Smedley is a quiet man. There is nothing of the loud speaker promoter or the back-slapping politician in him. His good judgment, his fine Christian spirit, his genuine creative ability have made their impression upon the life of the community. He has been given a large place in community affairs. He is rendering devoted service in the church of which he is a member. He is doing personally what he wants the Young Men's Christian Association to do—serve the community.

Let us do honor to whom honor is due. Ralph C. Smedley is the man who has made our Y. M. C. A. what it is. His dreams, his spirit, his personality are being worked out in the life of this institution.

MASSACHUSETTS PASSES A CRISIS

News comes from Massachusetts that she concluded on April 15 her emergency committee on unemployment because of the improved condition in the employment situation.

About six months ago the governor of Massachusetts appointed a committee and they brought about an organization of local communities in 225 communities throughout the state.

The report of this unemployment group is that "Since early in the year a marked improvement in the employment situation has been made, and the number of unemployed is unquestionably being reduced faster than was the case in January and February," and they state that this applies to our New England states.

When the committee was organized, and during the entire period in Massachusetts, it had three objects; first, to prevent the necessity of setting up soup kitchens as was done in many other places in the East; second, the creation of permanent or temporary jobs; third, to eliminate from the hearts of the employed the fear of the future.

From the reports received from Massachusetts, there has been a high degree of success attained by this community. Probably the same purposes have been carried out in other localities. Certainly, they have right here in Santa Ana, and we believe with a very considerable degree of success.

AN EX-KING IN PARIS

Apparently there are a great many people in Paris, as well as in Los Angeles, who love a king. If ex-King Alfonso could see the Los Angeles papers he might know that he would have a great welcome in this state.

King Alfonso would be a picturesque character in Hollywood, even though he has many rivals, and if he could relinquish his idea of "reigning" he could pass the remainder of his life in great enjoyment. Freedom from care and leisure would seem to him a fair exchange for the responsibilities and worries he has had the past few years.

There are people all over the world who like to acclaim a king. There is color and majesty and romance and dazzling accoutrements and impetus for the imagination.

OUR NATIONAL POORHOUSE

The commercial interests of the Virgin Islands have been very much offended at the language President Hoover used concerning those islands after his return from a visit to them. It may be recalled that the President was very unfavorably impressed with conditions there, and referred to the islands as our "national poor house." The business men intimate that Mr. Hoover was somewhat peeved because the welcome extended to him was not quite so vociferous as that given to him in Porto Rico. They remind him that the Latins are naturally much more emotional than those of Northern European extraction; but that does not mean that they are any more devoted, even so much devoted, as they are.

The language of the President was a bit strong, and many who read the words quoted by the newspapers wondered what sort of people they were we incorporated as American citizens when we bought the islands from Denmark for $25,000,000. It now appears that there are some very important business interests there; and the men who conduct the business of the islands feel that they have been handed rather a raw deal by the President. They feel that if he had gone inland a bit he might have gotten a different impression altogether.

If the Virgin Islands had some electoral votes we are very certain from the reports that have been printed as coming from there that Mr. Hoover would not get any of them. While the President has no need to fear unfavorable political repercussions from his statement, he certainly has not added to his social friendships. A President has to be very careful about his public statements. Yet it would be very strange, in view of the fact that a President is expected to say so much, if at times he did not say something that causes offense.

Green face powder, a new item says, is the rage in Paris. Perhaps killing, this Paris green!

DEPRESSION AND DRESS

A professor has come forward with the apparent discovery that there is a peculiar relationship between feminine fashions and economic conditions. Short skirts, according to his findings have always been worn during eras of prosperity, whereas, in times of depression, gowns lengthen.

An editorial writer takes exception to the theory from the professor because he maintains it is contrary to the logic and reason of the situation. "There would seem to be more point in the professor's theories if he reversed them, says the doubtful writer. 'It takes more cloth and more sewing to make dresses with long, full skirts than knee-length, skimpy ones.' When was human nature ever perfectly reasonable? That is what makes it interesting. The professor is probably quite right, particularly since he undoubtedly has made an observation rather than merely guessing at a theory.

There are influences at work affecting the styles and in times of depression the style influences in Paris, and New York and Los Angeles are for the use of much material, and tuckings, and circular skirts, and long skirts and ensembles carried out to the minutest detail. From the standpoint of the woman forced to stretch her budget a short and skimpy dress is more practical. But woman never has been exactly and unequivocally an individualist in her dress, any more than man. They follow styles and manufacturers are close to the costume designers.

Commercializing Science

Burbank Daily Review

Volta invents the electric cell and for the first time generates a continuous electric current. Faraday discovers induction, and Gramme, Siemens, Edison apply the discovery in the building of generators and motors. Maxwell mathematically predicts the possible existence of long, invisible waves in the ether and Hertz later produces them in his laboratory. Marconi sees the possibilities and radio is born. Sir Humphrey Davy produces sodium with the aid of the electric current. The great electrochemical industry at Niagara Falls follows a century later. Elster and Geitel show how positivism can be applied in converting light into electric current. High-speed telephotography and television are thereafter achieved.

Such instances of industrial and engineering progress following in the wake of pure science could be multiplied without end. Yet the Voltas, Maxwells and Hertzes of science pass their lives precariously. Twenty years ago no one rose to remind industry of its obligation to pure science. A different note is now heard.

The sureness with which corporation physicists and chemists conduct their inquiries, the inevitableness with which they select just the scientific principle or discovery that happens to be appropriate in a given case, the spectacle of millions made by the organized exploitation of a mathematical equation or a chemical formula may have bred a new discontent.

Have these scientists a property right to their discoveries? The conviction is growing that they have. But as yet the scientist has no copyright or patent laws to protect him.

A City Slicker Slips

San Bernardino Evening Telegram

One moral to be drawn from the news of the day seems to be that the city slicker has to stick to the city if he wants to keep on slicking people.

In the downfall of Fred Burke, the notorious Chicago gunman, we get just one more illustration of the fate that befalls the city chap when he forsakes his natural habitat and heads for the tall grass.

Burke was wanted, very badly, by the police of a good many cities. But Burke, flitting from one city to another, managed to avoid detection quite easily. His downfall came when he made his hide-out in a small Missouri village.

In this village there was a young truck driver, who was given to reading detective story magazines. He read a story about Burke in one of these magazines, studied his picture, and recognized the man when he saw him. He notified the police—and Burke was soon in jail.

That little story gets duplicated rather often. Burke is far from being the first hard guy from the city to come to grief in the sticks.

Let Us Prey!

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

BANS ACROSS THE SEA

The fez, which once was but a whim—
The merest freak of fashion—
Since it has been denied to him
Becomes the pasha's passion.
It does not shade his russet brow,
It lacks esthetic merit,
But it has been tabooed, and now
He's simply mad to wear it.
And into court he'll gamely go—
A docked and chained defendant—
And all because he wants to show
That he is independent.

The fez the Turk, if left alone
By meddlesome Angora,
Into the discard might have thrown
And bought a new fedora.
But though the government prepare
An iron bedroom for him,
He still the style of hat will wear
His father wore before him.
And till the last resounding tramp
Calle "taps" to all creation,
He says he'll not be dressed by sump-
tuary legislation.

And so while at the powers that be
He launches forth a tirade,
Insisting that he still is free
Despite his ruler's trade,
Safe in the shelter of his home
With curtains drawn he lingers,
And wears a fez upon his dome
And snaps defiant fingers.
And though a law-defying crook
Perhaps we might proclaim him,
When round the U. S. A. we look
We find small grounds to blame him.

The Widow's Mite

By WILLIAM TRUFANT FOSTER and WADDILL CATCHINGS

Has a trustee fulfilled his trust when he has safeguarded every dollar that has been entrusted to him? Under the law, he has; but what good does that do a widow who has lost three-fourths of the value of her money? That is what happened, in 1896, entirely in so-called "safe" bonds.

The President of the Trust Company spoke with pride of his extreme care in fulfilling the trust.

"But," objected Professor Irving Fisher, "in effect, you have lost three-fourths of the principal and of the income."

The indignant President demanded an explanation. The explanation was simple. Between 1896 and 1920, the price of goods in general had risen about fourfold. In other words, it took about four dollars to buy what one dollar would have bought in 1896. The widow had lost, in purchasing power, 75 per cent of her money; and her money was of no use to her except as purchasing power.

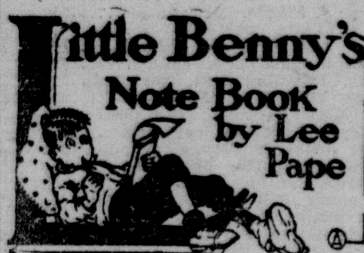

The fall in the value of her money was just as real as the fall in the value of the German mark during the World War. The difference was one of degree only. The German bondholder lost over 99 per cent, whereas the American widow lost only 75 per cent.

Thus inflation of money cheats every one who has a bond, or a savings bank account, or a fixed wage. Deflation, on the other hand, cheats every one who owes money. And deflation has gone on at a disastrous rate for the past year.

The world does not need high prices or low prices. The world needs, and justice demands, a level of prices which will stay about where it is. In other words, it needs money which is fairly stable in purchasing power.

If we had enjoyed that kind of money, the trust officer, actually as well as legally, would have safeguarded the Widow's Mite.

Pop was smoking and thinking in his private chair and ma sed, Im getting to be quite a driver, Willyum. If any other car passes me now, its because Im good and red to let them go by, and not because of any superior speed on their part, she sed.

Well then you must be a magician, pop sed. Our little Sparrow is a 16 horsepower car, and if a 40 horsepower Stumblor or an 80 horsepower Eisenbrey wanted to pass you, I dont see what you could do about it except watch their dust recede in the distance, he sed.

There's more than one way of passing a needle through a camels eye, ma sed. When I hear a grate big powerful overbearing arrogant car honking insolently behind me, I calmly steer over into the middle of the street so that it wouldnt have room to go by even if it had a thousand horsepower and a million candlepower thrown in for good measure, and when theyve had their full of honking and Ive had my full of revenge, I drive over on my own side again, and let them by while I remain totally impervious to their black looks or ill bred remarks, as the case may be, she sed. Just because people have an unlimited amount of horsepower at their beck and call, does that give them any more right to the freedom of the road than other people possess? she sed.

Well yes, I mean it would if it wasent for quick thinkers like yourself, pop sed, and ma sed. An incident of that kind occurred to me today. I was driving along minding my own affairs and a car rite behind me set up a most impertinent honking, and without any fuss or feathers I moved rite into the middle of the road with out even bothering to turn my head, and at that the honking became simply deafening, but I kept my presents of mind and stuck to the middle of the street because I knew full well that if they hit me from behind it would be their own fault, and in a few moments the honking became mingled with shrill unpleasant sounds like blasts on a whistle, and I subconsciously looked around and low and behold it was a car painted bright red. In fact it was a police department car with 2 berly captains in it, and they made me stop and took my name and license number and everything they could think of, so there may be a fine to pay, she sed.

Yours quite wrong, theres no may be about it, pop sed. Meaning there would be for sure.

Thoughts On Modern Life

By GLENN FRANK

AN HOUR WITH HOLMES

As I listened to that incomparable and indomitable spirit—Mr. Justice Holmes—speak with brilliant brevity over the radio on his ninetieth birthday, I reached towards the row of his writings, that nestle on a shelf near my reading chair, and spent the rest of the evening skimming here, there, and yonder through his pages for the sheer joy of watching the clarity of his thought and the charm of his style.

Let me give you here some of the high-lights that caught my fancy: "The life of the law has not been logic; it has been experience. "Certitude is not the test of certainty. We have been cock-sure of many things that were not so." "A page of history is worth a volume of logic."

"The past gives us our vocabulary and fixes the limit of our inauguration, but the present has a right to govern itself so far as it can."

"Mankind may yet take its own destiny consciously and intelligently in hand."

"To have doubted one's own first principles is the mark of a civilized man."

I pick these phrases at random as indications of the thing that has made the career of Holmes a high-point in American jurisprudence.

He has kept a flexible mind.

He has put life above logic.

He has refused to allow the dead hand to get its clammy clutch on his mind.

He has displayed a magnificent faith that modern man is able to make traditions as well as keep them.

OUR CHILDREN

By ANGELO PATRI

LET US HAVE A CLEAN UP CAMPAIGN

Spring always brings a fresh impulse toward cleanliness. One has the desire to clean up. A new suit, a new dress, are necessary to express our joy in the renewal of life, in the freshness of awakening beauty.

The impulse toward cleanliness soon brings on the spring house cleaning. All the closets, all the catch-corners, the cellar and the attic are emptied of the useless lumber. The back yards are cleaned and hopeful patches of soil spaded and raked, the beginnings of dreams. There is stirring of a buried ideal felt throughout the town. How lovely it would be to have the freshness and sweetness of the spring abiding with us.

A revival is a good thing. At least it shows there is still life in the ashes. A reform is certainly better than a continued abuse of order. By all means let us have our annual cleanup and have it bigger and better, deeper and wider, and more lasting, year by year.

Clean up all the vacant lots. I cannot second the appeal of the enthusiast that sent word to the school to turn the children out with rakes and forks and brooms to clean up the vacant lots in the neighborhood. I believe that ought to be done by the owner of the vacant property. I think he ought to be held responsible all year round for the cleanliness of the place, and its general sightliness.

Unless, like a wise citizen, he turns it over to the playground association for the use of the children until such time as he may need it for building purposes. Under those circumstances I'd have the authorities keep it in order.

Once the town is cleaned up, all the lots burned clear, all the dumps covered as well as burned over, all the streets flushed and swept, all the houses painted and the gardens tidied ready for planting, have a day by day, hour by hour vigilance established. No body is to litter the yard, the garden, the street, the place where he may happen to be.

That means that your newspaper is to be tossed into the box or barrel set ready. If you happen to be eating peanuts along the street keep the shells in the bag and when you have them all together put the bag in the proper receptacle. The wrapper from your gum, and the gum itself, is to go into the litter barrel, not on the street. Banana skins and cigarette butts and dead matches, all to go into the box or barrel at the next corner.

Are the boxes and barrels ready? Some of the people who are not working these days could help a lot in this. They could gather and paint the boxes and barrels and place them in convenient places, and keep an eye on the general cleanliness of the town. We are teaching the school children to keep the place clean, but if their elders and superiors in experience and power, litter the place as they go along, our teaching cannot function. Your example will breathe the breath of life into our teaching.

By all means then let us have a cleanup campaign. Everything scraped clean, and then let's have another and longer one, to keep everything scraped clean. It makes life easier, healthier, happier, and it improves property values.

RHEIMS OFFENSIVE

On April 17, 1917, the French launched a new offensive which was regarded as the beginning of the most important advance they had made since the war began.

For more than 30 months the historic city of Rheims had been a target for German guns, and the beautiful city of Soissons had been likewise in serious peril. The blow struck on this day was on the 11-mile stretch east of Rheims, and on the front between Rheims and Soissons. The French troops proved irresistible in their advance.

In the fighting, which was very bitter along the whole front from Flanders to Alsace, it was estimated that 4,000,000 men were engaged, 2,500,000 allies and 1,500,000 Germans. It was reported that in the battles of April 14, 15, 16 and 17 over 3500 Germans had been captured by British and French together, and that German casualties exceeded 150,000.
